Britain Is Seeking Support of Nations On Palestine Issue

Delays Putting Case Before League Until Assurance of Powers Given

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., March 29 (AP).—Britain again today delayed filing the explosive Palestine case with the United Nations, this time to seek assurances of support from Russia, France and China for a special session of the General Assembly.

At the same time the turbulent Greek question moved towards a full airing here. A reliable United Nations source said it was known that the Security Council's 11-nation commission now examining Greece's border troubles would submit majority and minority reports, with Russia and Poland as the dissenters.

The plan for a special session of the assembly to set up machinery for handling the Palestine issue already has United States support.

The new development in the Holy Land situation came after a Foreign Office spokesman in London said that Sir Alexander Cadogan, British delegate to the Security Council, had been authorized to present the case officially to the United Nations.

"It is within the latitude of his instructions to take the step at once," the London spokesman declared.

However, to carry out what a spokesman here termed "a courtesy step," Cadogan asked Secretary-General Trygve Lie first to get for him prior assurances of approval from the other three major powers.

Lie's office immediately contacted the Secretary-General, now on a trip to Norway, and then instituted formal inquiries. France was understood to have replied that it could not answer before Monday, and there was some question whether Soviet delegate Andrei A. Gromyko would be ready even by then.

Upon filing of the case, United Nations officials will canvass the 55 member nations. Approval by a 28-nation majority is necessary before a special session can be called, but the only apparent major opposition was expected from five Arab states which are demanding that the British bid for a special session be accompanied by some type of recommendation for a solution to the long-smouldering issue.

Put Closure On Debate In Commons

Control Measure Contentious Issue

OTTAWA, March 30 (CP). — The possibility arose today that the Government might have to apply the rarely-used procedure of "closure"—the automatic cutting-off of a debate—to end the long discussion now brewing in the Commons over the Administration's Omnibus Control Bill.

By this method, the Government is enabled to bring a debate to an end within 48 hours after closure is applied.

Parliamentary sources stressed that if the Government used closure it would be done only as a last resort if the debate appeared to be crowding the May 15 deadline for the expiration of the Emergency Transitional Powers Act, under which the wartime controls now are being continued.

The use of closure would save the Government the necessity of asking Parliament for another extension of the Emergency Powers Act, a request which Government spokesmen already have said they wish to avoid. The act originally was to have expired Saturday but was extended to May 15.

Developments in the Chamber indicate the control debate will be long and bitter and may easily extend to May 15 and possibly beyond. Thus far, the legislation has got only as far as the resolution stage and has been debated heavily every step of the way through that phase of its passage.

Quebec Voters to Ballot Monday in By-Election

MONTREAL, March 29 (CP).—A spirited and often contentious month-long campaign in the Montreal-Cartier Federal by-election over, electors will vote Monday for a successor to Fred Rose, imprisoned Communist who formerly represented the riding as a Labor-Progressive member.

The working class riding in the heart of Montreal was tense with excitement in anticipation of the vote which is expected to be heavy. Charges and counter-charges have been made that hoodlums and gangsters will be brought into the city and reinforced police patrols are prepared for trouble should it arise.

More than a score of persons were injured in disturbances in a section of this constituency in provincial elections three years ago and the precautions the police have taken are against a repetition of these incidents. About 300 city police will be on call and Provincial Police are ready to lend a hand if they are needed.

Between 37,000 and 38,000 electors are eligible to vote and they will choose from among these candidates:

Maurice Hartt, official Liberal; Michael Buhay, Labor-Progressive; Paul Masse, Autonomist and Anti-Communist; Dave Rochone, Independent Liberal, and O. N. Gingras and Louis Valiquette, Independents.

This will be the second clash in an election between Mr. Hartt and Mr. Buhay. The Liberal candidate resigned from the Provincial Legislature to contest this by-election and in the 1944 provincial voting he defeated Mr. Buhay, 9,754 votes to 6,872.

Attacks Russia

WILLIAM C. BULLITT

A former U.S. ambassador to both the Soviet Union and France, who told a Congressional committee in Washington that if Russia had the atomic bomb it would already have been dropped on the United States. Bullitt, addressing the House committee on un-American activities, asserted that Prime Minister Stalin, like Hitler, will not stop of his own accord, but can only "be stopped."

Crime Lawyer Dies Suddenly

NEW YORK, March 29 (AP).—Charles S. Whitman, 78, former Governor of New York, died tonight.

Whitman, who was elected Governor in 1915 and re-elected two years later, died of a heart attack.

A native of Hanover, Conn., Whitman became New York City's district attorney in 1910 and gained his principal fame as a prosecutor.

In 1912 he "broke" the case of the slaying of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal, who was shot to death on a Manhattan street a few hours after conferring with the district attorney about "police protection."

Whitman took personal charge of the investigation and gained convictions of Becker and Rosenthal's accused slayers—"Lefty Louie," "Dago Frank," "Whitey Lewis" and "Gyp the Blood." They died in Sing Sing Prison's electric chair.

Mass Emigration Planned by Italy

ROME, March 29 (AP).—Dr. Mario Tomassini, director-general of immigration in the Italian Foreign Ministry, estimated today that 30,000 to 40,000 Italian emigrants would leave for Argentina by the end of the year.

Up, Up, a Little Bit Higher---Load Is Bit Heavy

Coal Miners Strike In Dortmund Areas

ESSEN, March 29 (AP). — A walkout of 4,000 Dortmund coal miners injected a new note of seriousness today in Ruhr food shortage demonstrations marked so far by considerable sympathy on the part of the British occupiers.

Officials watched closely whether the Ruhr's other 250,000 miners might fall into step with the Dortmund men who were cheered by their wives as they left the pits while 2,000 hunger marchers paraded the downtown streets and sent deputations to British and German municipal authorities.

The Dortmund walkout was the first instance in three days of Ruhr strikes and demonstrations that miners felt the jobs so essential to German and European economy.

Attention centred on an address scheduled tomorrow by Dr. Kurt Schumacher, leader of the Social Democratic party, at Oberhausen, a few miles north of Dusseldorf where 100,000 demonstrators Friday stoned British buildings and overturned British jeeps.

It was generally expected that the Schumacher speech would hold the key to the course the Germans will follow.

The Dortmund strike and demonstration was without incident. Four mines were affected by the walkout of miners demanding that the daily food ration of 1,550 calories be met in full. The demonstrators said they had been receiving hardly two-thirds the official ration. The miners agreed to return to work Monday but said they would strike again unless their families received their full food allotments.

If the demonstrators expected to be met by a display of machineguns and military force they were mistaken. Their deputations were received courteously by military officials.

Helpless Vessel Towed to Port

Floundering off Jordan River with a broken rudder, the fish packer Sanjose, owned by the Western Chemical Company, Vancouver, was taken in tow by the Island Challenger, of the Island Tug & Barge, Ltd., Victoria, it was learned last night.

The vessel, with six crew members aboard, sent out a distress signal after the crew had made several unsuccessful attempts to put the packer ashore. The Island Challenger was in the vicinity at the time the signal was sent out and immediately went to the assistance of the stricken packer.

The vessel was towed to the Victoria Machinery Depot's Bay Street yard where she will be hauled up Monday for repairs. Crewmen of the Sanjose were none the worse for their experience.

Scores Record On Long Flight

NEW YORK, March 29 (AP).—A United Airlines DC-6 plane carrying 38 passengers arrived here tonight after a non-stop flight from Long Beach, Calif., to set a new West-East transcontinental record for commercial craft of six hours, 47 minutes and 13 seconds.

The official time was clocked by William Zint of the National Aeronautics Association. The plane, piloted by E. W. Larned of La Grange, Ill., left Long Beach at 8:24:14 a.m. (P.S.T.), and arrived here at 3:11:27 p.m. (P.S.T.).

Previous claimants to the record had been clocked officially at more than seven hours.

Taft Disavows Money Theory

PITTSBURGH, March 29 (AP).—Senator Robert A. Taft (R., Ohio) declared tonight America must follow a policy of "enlightened selfishness" in the world affairs.

The Ohio senator told a Civic Forum gathering "we must disavow the theory that we are Father Bountiful and can cure the ills of the world by giving away our own sustenance."

"American money can't do everything," Taft declared. "All we can do is assist other nations to help themselves."

Phone Strike Still Pending

NEW YORK, March 29 (AP).—Federal mediators conferred for more than seven hours today with officials of the American Union of Telephone Workers and the Long Lines Department of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company but a union spokesman reported that both sides remained adamant and "no progress has been made."

The mediators had expressed hope that they could help the parties effect an agreement which could set a pattern to avert the country-wide telephone strike threatened for April 7.

John J. Moran, union president, said no new offer had been made by the company and that the union had not changed its demands.

A walkout expected to affect about 287,000 telephone workers on April 7 has been threatened by the National Federation of Telephone Workers, a group of independent unions. They are making ten contract demands, including one for a $12 weekly pay boost.

Britain's Farmers Suffered Heavily

LONDON, March 29 (AP).—Floods and snow have cost British farmers $80,000,000 and recent weather has been "the greatest food production tragedy" in British history, the National Farmers' Union declared in a statement tonight.

The union estimated that 1,370,000 sheep and lambs have perished, mostly in snowstorms; 30,000 head of cattle died; that casualties in pigs, calves and poultry were very great, and that 100,000 acres of Winter wheat were destroyed.

Four Injured In Car Smash

Four persons were injured in an automobile accident last night, city police reported.

Two other accidents were reported but no one was injured, police said.

The injured are: M. Beattie, his wife and mother, of 1236 Oscar Street, and James E. Broadhurst, 1035 Caledonia Avenue.

The accident occurred at 11:23 last night when Mr. Beattie and his family, while driving south on Douglas Street, were in collision with a car driven by James Broadhurst at the corner of Douglas and Courtney Streets.

The injured were rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital by Constables Stanley Holmes, Alex Briggs and R. Smith of the city police.

Hospital officials said all four were suffering from bruises and minor lacerations. Their conditions were said to be "good."

At 12:25 a.m. this morning, city police reported an army truck driven east on Gorge Road by Pte. J. Dowhaniuk, R.C.A.S.C., was in collision with a parked car belonging to J. Copshinoff, 427 Hillside Avenue, near Mac's Coffee Shop. No one was injured but there was considerable damage, police said.

At 7:30 p.m. a car driven west on Yates Street by W. Mason, 2369 Musgrave Street, was in collision with a car driven east on Yates Street by George Diamond, 1246 Balmoral Road. Police said the fronts of both cars were damaged but no one was injured.

Truck Collides With Freight

YALE, March 29 (CP).—One man was killed and two others injured today when a truck, in collision with a C.P.R. freight train here, was overturned and wrecked.

John H. Nerbus, of Hope, driver of the truck, was killed, and his brother, Wilbert, and N. E. Johnson, of Hope, were injured.

A fourth passenger in the truck, Stanley Geluch, was unhurt.

Police said that Nerbus was backing the truck to turn it around when the collision occurred.

Lewis Orders Miners Quit Work to Mourn

Soft Coal Workers Told to Leave Jobs April 1 For Six Days in Memory of Disaster Victims

WASHINGTON, March 29 (AP).—John L. Lewis today called a six-day work stoppage in the soft coal mines in mourning for the Centralia disaster victims starting April 1—the date he had set for a strike until the Supreme Court stopped him.

He also demanded the ouster of Secretary of the Interior Krug on the ground of "criminal negligence" in regard to enforcing safety rules.

Lewis' order to the 400,000 members of the United Mine Workers' Union called it "a sacred coincidence that the greater part of this designated period of mourning will be during 'Holy Week.'"

But Senator Ball (Rep-Minn.) commented that "in the present condition of the world, I think it's an extremely inappropriate memorial." He added that "it certainly demonstrates again the power of one man—if he can do it."

Reports from the coal field left no doubt the miners would follow Lewis' directions.

John D. Battle, executive secretary of the National Bituminous Coal Association, said in a statement that "Mr. Lewis' grandstand play . . . will not bring any of these dead back to life . . . but will cost the mine workers in wages upwards of $15,000,000 and the national economy as a whole double or triple that amount."

"And all to no purpose, except to cater to Mr. Lewis' delusions of grandeur," Battle said. He contended the Lewis stoppage order is "a flagrant breach of contract" with the Government.

Normally some 12,000,000 tons of coal is mined in six working days but the shutdown actually will cost far less than that. Tuesday would be a holiday anyway as the anniversary of the miners' eight-hour day. It is designated "John Mitchell Day" in some areas in honor of the man who headed the union when the eight-hour day was obtained in 1898. The religious holidays next Thursday and Friday also would cut down production.

Lewis told a news conference that the shutdown will not violate the Supreme Court order which directed him to withdraw his notice "terminating" his contract with the Government—the signal for a strike—and to issue no such notice again as long as the Government operates the mines.

He said the memorial shutdown is authorized under a provision of his 1941 contract with the private operators which is carried forward in the Government pact. It reads:

"The International union, United Mine Workers of America, may designate memorial periods providing it shall give proper notice to each district."

Naval Ratings Will Take Over

Special to The Daily Colonist

OTTAWA, March 29. — As from April 1, naval personnel will carry out the maintenance work at the Esquimalt Dockyard, National Defence Deputy Minister W. Gordon Mills stated today. This is in accordance, he said, with the general policy being followed by the department in replacing civilians by service personnel. Action along the same lines is being taken at the Halifax Dockyard.

A complement of some 200 ratings from H.M.C.S. Rockcliffe has been made responsible for the maintenance of the reserve fleet at Esquimalt, Mr. Mills declared, and reductions are being made in the reserve fleet so that the personnel will be able to look after its care and maintenance.

Protest was made by Maj.-Gen. George R. Pearkes, V.C., that the civilian conservation crew be maintained until navy personnel were able to take over the actual work, but the defence deputy stated it had already been decided the navy personnel would take over such work as the number available permitted. The deputy added it might be necessary to reduce still further the number of vessels retained in the reserve fleet.

To Set Date For Plan On Germany

Hope Monday Talks Will Bring Pact

MOSCOW, March 29 (AP).—Prodded by Secretary Marshall, the Foreign Ministers agreed tonight to set dates to reach main bargaining decision on the future of Germany.

Simultaneously the British sought four-power agreement on return of all war prisoners to Germany by December 31, 1948.

Authoritative sources also disclosed that in a diplomatic sideshow outside the ministers' conference Sir Maurice Peterson, the British ambassador, was conducting negotiations with the Soviet deputy, Foreign Minister A. Y. Vishinsky, on revision of the British-Russian alliance.

The negotiations were a followup to the meeting between British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and Prime Minister Stalin at the beginning of the week. Informants said that if a basis is reached for revising the present 20-year treaty against Germany dating from 1942, the recommendations would be put before Stalin and Bevin in another meeting before Bevin leaves Moscow.

In the shortest session of the conference to date, lasting only an hour, the ministers agreed to try to settle the heart of the German problem by discussing main points in two blunderbuss sessions starting next Monday.

German Leader

Here is the latest photo of Dr. Wilhelm Kuelz, 72, one-time president of the League of Nations, and a former German Minister of the Interior. Kuelz is leader of the Liberal Democratic party in the Soviet occupation zone and is reported to be a leading candidate for the Reich chancellorship, when the time comes to set up a German government. He is said to be supported for that post by the Soviet military government, and is believed to be acceptable also to the Western powers.

British Army Leaves Egypt

CAIRO, March 29 (Reuters).—The Union Jack came down for the last time in Cairo today as British troops evacuated the Kasr-el-Nil barracks on the banks of the Nile after 64 years of occupation of the city.

British troops left the barracks in mobile columns for the Suez Canal Zone.

Britain's decision to withdraw all her forces from Egypt was announced May 7, 1946, two days before formal opening of unsuccessful Anglo-Egyptian talks for revision of the 1936 treaty.

Shipyard Will Reopen At Usual Time Monday

The No. 2 Yard of Yarrows Ltd. will open for work tomorrow at 8 a.m., it was announced yesterday following a meeting of A.F. of L. union representatives and the shipyard management.

The yard was closed as a result of a jurisdictional dispute between the A.F. of L. and C.C.L. involving steel rackers and checkers.

"All A.F. of L. workers will report to work at 8 a.m. Monday," said George Wilkinson, acting as spokesman for the Victoria Shipyard Workers' Federation, Local No. 232 (A.F. of L.).

Members of the C.C.L. union—the Marine Workers, Machinists and Boilermakers' Industrial Union, Local No. 3—may return to their jobs providing they make an appearance at the shipyard by 12:30 p.m., according to the company.

A special meeting of all shop stewards, representing all shipyard trades, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Boilermakers' Hall, Government Street.

T. A. Mitchell, business agent for the C.C.L. union here, said yesterday a meeting of all union members would be held tomorrow at 10 a.m. At that meeting, he said, members would vote on the issue.

Mr. Mitchell has stated eight men of the C.C.L. union had been told by the management of Yarrows Ltd. that if they wanted to continue work they would have to quit their present union and join the A.F. of L. organization.

Mr. Wilkinson said: "The jurisdiction covering bargaining rights in the matter were clearly established by the Victoria Shipyard Workers' Federal Union No. 232 (A.F. of L.)."

He added: "It has been impossible to come to an agreement because local C.C.L. officials are dominated by Vancouver representatives."

H. A. Wallace, president and managing director of Yarrows Ltd., noting that the closure halted work on the C.N.R. passenger ship, yesterday said "stoppage of work might seriously delay the construction of this vessel and others. Such a stoppage does not give confidence to ship owners in the stability of labor in this district."

VANCOUVER, March 29 (CP).—William L. White, president of the Boilermakers' Union (C.C.L.) here, said today the dispute between C.C.L. and A.F.L. Unions in Victoria, which has tied up Yarrows Ltd. No. 2 Yard in Esquimalt, may spread to Vancouver.

Possibility of a sympathy strike will hinge on a request from the Marine Workers, Machinists and Boilermakers' Union, Local No. 3, White said. He claimed that eight Victoria boilermakers are "locked out," and said the union here will refuse to ship materials to Yarrows if they are asked to do so by the Victoria local.

To Be Criminal Boy's Ambition

VANCOUVER, March 29 (CP). — A 14-year-old youth whose ambition is to be a "big shot criminal," has ended his reign of terror as leader of a teen-aged gang, and is now in police custody.

The self-styled leader of the gang that is suspected of committing 16 city bulgaries, today told police that he would some day be a murderer.

The gang, composed of eight boys from 11 to 15 years of age, had a short-lived "crime wave," but their activities have brought forth one of the most difficult problems to face authorities here in many years.

Although most of their loot was of the "cheaper" type, such as candy, gum and small sums of money, the gang had a "big job" all "cased."

The leader and his pals had discovered how to break into a theatre and locate a considerable amount of money. However, the arrests were made before the planned robbery could take place.

Press Freedom Fight Reviewed

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., March 29 (AP).—Kent Cooper, executive director of The Associated Press, declared tonight that world-wide freedom of the press "can only be fully won when international propaganda is thrown into the discard."

Cooper reviewed the fight of the American press for a "freedom of the press" clause in international agreements and said the first victory was its inclusion last month in the Italian treaty. He added:

"Yet I solemnly declare that it is the bounden duty of the American press not only to keep it there but to make certain that the whole public information business is not thrown into chaotic confusion by the continuance of the nefarious practice of government propaganda."

Addressing the Associated Dailies of Florida and the Florida Associated Press Association, he said:

"The battle to keep information channels clean and to maintain the truth in news can only be fully won when international propaganda is thrown into the discard so nations can begin to live in peace without abrasive international propaganda doing its destructive work."

The "freedom of press" clause in the Italian treaty is the first in history. Similar clauses, he added, are in treaties with Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Finland.

N. Bourke Heads Up-Island Club

QUALICUM BEACH, March 29.—Officers of the new Qualicum Beach Golf Club include H. J. Welch, M.L.A., and E. L. Boultbee, honorary presidents; N. Bourke, president; C. B. McAllister, vice-president; Ian Dobbin, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. H. D. Reid, captain of the ladies' team, and G. Kinkade, captain of the men's team.

Mr. Boultbee donated cups for men and women. Mrs. A. de C. Denny also furnished trophies in the name of her late father, Gen. Money.

Widening Flood Area Adds to Damage Toll

SASKATOON, March 30 (CP).—The swelling torrents of the South Saskatchewan River, having first inundated thousands of acres of land in Central Saskatchewan, today splashed their way north to the Prince Albert district, adding to the toll of devastation.

[illegible] of families living in the lowlands by the river banks had been forced to evacuate their homes during the week no loss of human life was reported, although the casualty rate among livestock was rising.

Fifty-two-year-old Alexander Irvine of the Red Deer Hill district, several miles south of Prince Albert, had one of the narrowest escapes of any Saskatchewan resident.

Trapped on an island where he had gone Friday in search of logs, the middle-aged farmer was forced to spend 18 hours in a tree after ice-infested waters swept over the small body of land.

He was rescued Saturday by R.C.M.P. constables who used boats to approach the island, then crawled the rest of the way across the ice pack. Water under the tree where he had perched precariously Friday night was ten feet deep.

Elsewhere in the Red Deer Hill district the river was reported to have extended a mile beyond its normal banks. The main highway to St. Louis, 23 miles south of Prince Albert, was closed four and a half miles from the village. In some spots the water had risen ten feet above the higway level.

In Central Saskatchewan, meanwhile, the waters were beginning to recede, although the process was slow. Farm homes, vacated by their occupants, stood as small islands in a vast week-old lake. Timber and other debris drifted with the current, birds flew aimlessly overhead seeking food.

The evacuees, families taken from their homes by boat after the sudden rise of the flood, expected it would be the middle of the week at least before they could return to their dwellings. Damage, reaching into thousands of dollars, could not be estimated.

The floods, which first swept the Red Deer district in Alberta, then stretched into Saskatchewan, were expected to reach Northern Manitoba next. But residents at The Pas said today that it would probably be two weeks before this happened.

However, they feared that sooner or later the floods would come. Veteran farmers in the Carrot Lake Valley west of The Pas contended that since the milder weather farther west had not been prevalent in their area a potential danger would exist when the flood waters strike the still frozen Saskatchewan River in Manitoba.

They said ice jams could result which would cause water to back up the Opasquai and Carrot Rivers and possibly flood farmlands.

Fraud in Oil Charge Made

WASHINGTON, March 29 (AP).—James A. Moffett declared today that oil companies "deliberately defrauded the United States Government" in charging the navy $1.05 a barrel for Arabian-produced petroleum.

Moffett testified to the Senate War Investigating Committee that the British Admiralty had been buying oil in the Persian Gulf area for less than 40 cents a barrel. He said the United States Navy should have been able to make purchases at a similar price.

Moffett, an oil man, said that a 1941 offer of Arabian oil to the navy at lower prices had been "overlooked by Government authorities" when contracts were signed in 1945.

Under the contracts, the American-Arabian Oil Company and the California-Texas Oil Company delivered $59,879,594 worth of oil to the navy.

Asked if he thought oil companies were "culpable" in not offering a contract at the 1941 price, Moffett testified:

"I say they deliberately defrauded the United States Government, in my opinion."

. . Oddities . .

CHICAGO, March 29 (AP).—Irving Drell, owner of a currency exchange, told police his strategy to protect his office safe from burglars worked out all right—but at a cost of $700.

He told police he left the $700 outside the safe intentionally as a sort of a "come-on" in case of burglars. He figured they wouldn't bother trying to open the safe, which held much more money.

They took the $700. The safe was not disturbed.

NORTH BEND, Ore., March 29 (AP).—Prince, a nine-year-old red cocker spaniel, is about the best errand boy the card game fans at the Town Tavern here ever picked up.

Prince, who requires no tips except a pat on the head, takes a dollar bill, trots off to a nearby restaurant, and comes back with a hot sandwich and change in a paper bag. He's been doing it for tavern frequenters for three years, and he hasn't opened a bag yet—not even when it contains hamburgers for his own dinner.

PITTSBURGH, March 29 (AP).—The mysterious "Spirit of Easter" Samaritan who gave away three-pound Easter eggs, $1 and $5 bills, today turned out to be a nine-year-old boy. Police learned the generous lad had appropriated $43 of his parents' money to finance his largess.

Famous Volcano Erupts After Century of Quiet

By IVAR GUNDMUNDSON

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, March 29 (AP).—Mount Hekla, 4,764-foot volcano some 60 miles east of here, was ablaze clear across the top tonight and tossing flames and white-hot boulders almost half a mile into the air.

Streams of red-hot lava pouring from the craters had reached points as far as five miles from the mountain but still were moving toward uninhabited sections.

However, the big rocks falling back into the craters set up a deafening roar, and farmhouses 30 miles away were trembling so that the occupants could not sleep.

Hekla sent up a column of smoke and lava some 25,000 feet tall and its outpouring hid the sun and darkened part of Southern Iceland when the eruption started this morning.

Automobiles on roads 60 miles south of the volcano had to drive with headlights burning and ashes fell on ships as far as 20 miles out at sea.

There was no immediate danger to residents, but the thickly-populated area south of the mountain was threatened with gas and fumes.

I flew over the volcano this morning shortly after eruption began. The pilot was warned to stay at least 10 miles from the crater and not lower than 6,000 feet as there was danger to the plane from stones hurled by the explosion.

As the plane neared the mountain, it was tossed about and at least one stone struck it lightly. The main lava streams could be seen moving north and northeast. Dark brown clouds rose from the lava. Big rocks were borne on a column of fire springing from the crater.

Hekla, one of the earth's most famous volcanoes, was considered in Icelandic folklore to be the home of witches. It has been dormant for 102 years.

Bid Farewell To Army Mess

Members and former members of the Sergeants' Mess at Work Point Barracks gathered last night to say farewell to the old hall, continuously occupied for more than 78 years.

The new mess will be opened at Col. Peter's former estate on April 1.

Col. James Read, reeve of Esquimalt, and Capt. Harry Rood and Sgt. T. Buxton, all former members of the mess, were on hand to recall the history of the structure and bygone days.

R.S.M. J. G. Stevens was in charge of the program and Dick Humphries played piano accompaniment to the singing. Refreshments were served.

Rescue Search Over 111 Dead in Blast

CENTRALIA, Ill., March 29 (AP).—Rescue squads, who braved dense gas and weakened mine walls in an almost fruitless four-day search for survivors in an explosion-torn coal mine, completed their explorations today and announced the final death toll was 111.

"The search is over," said Driscoll A. Scanlan, state mine inspector who aided in directing the rescue efforts. "All the missing are accounted for."

As Centralia received the news it expected but dreaded—that only 31 of the 142 men underground had survived—John L. Lewis called on his 400,000 United Mine Workers to quit work from Tuesday, April 1 to Sunday, April 6, in memory of the 111 victims. The mine union chief said the Government contract authorized such a period of mourning.

The Centralia disaster is the worst of its kind in the United States since 195 miners perished in a similar tragedy at Mather, Pa., on May 19, 1928.

A coal mine rescue squad boss with a portable telephone set flashed the "search completed — no additional survivors" message from a rubble-strewn tunnel 540 feet below ground.

William P. Young, vice president of the Centralia Coal Company, owners of the mine, told reporters when the rescue squad reached the surface "all found, all dead."

However, rescue workers said they had not found the body of Clifford Copple, 42, of Centralia, and that they expected it was in a gas-filled chamber they had passed through. The gas was so dense in the chamber, they said, that he could not have survived. His death would make the final toll 111.

Poor Shooting Features Duel Fought With Ancient Pistols

PARIS, March 29 (CP). — Using classic muzzle-loading pistols, Gaston Deferre, former French cabinet minister, and Paul Bastid, newspaper executive, fought a duel today in the woods of a castle outside Paris.

Two shots were fired without result. The opponents were not reconciled. It was the first known duel in France since 1938.

Deferre, Socialist, and Bastid, Radical-Socialist, are deputies in the National Assembly. The duel challenge was issued after a scuffle between the two yesterday.

One newspaper description of yesterday's Assembly scene quoted Deferre as shooting his challenge in these words: "Name your seconds and I will let you have four bullets in the gizzard."

In a statement to the Chamber before being suspended for 24 hours Deferre, a former Minister of Information, put it in this way: "I told Bastid that I was prepared to settle this question on the field of honor, but he declined to meet me there."

Explaining his action, Deferre said he was protesting against what he called defamatory articles connecting him with an Algerian wine scandal which had appeared in Bastid's newspaper.

Empty Lifeboat in Pacific Yields No Trace of Crewmen

HONOLULU, March 29 (AP).—A capsized lifeboat from the tanker Fort Dearborn was found 665 miles northeast of Midway last night, but it yielded no trace of the 12 men who have been missing since the ship broke in two during a storm March 12.

Thirty-two others who stayed aboard the bow and stern sections were rescued.

The freighter China Victory, en route from the Philippines to San Francisco, reported discovery of the empty boat in a radio message to the Hawaiian Sea Frontier.

It said the boat, apparently the one launched by panicky crew members when the Dearborn broke up, was badly damaged, its propeller was missing, and there was "no sign of life."

One more chapter remained to be written in the tragedy of the Fort Dearborn. The stern section of the wrecked 10,448-ton ship wallowed in the swells 370 miles north of this island, awaiting the arrival Sunday of a second tug to help tow it into Pearl Harbor for salvage. The towline of the first tug parted Thursday. The bow section was sunk by naval gunfire as a menace to navigation.

Globe-Circling Flight Planned

NEW YORK, March 29 (AP).—Pen manufacturer Milton Reynolds plans to attempt a record 55-hour, 20,000-mile round-the-world flight beginning here at 12:01 a.m. (E.S.T.) Saturday, April 5, a representative said today.

The spokesman, Franklin Lamb, said Reynolds' aim would be virtually to halve the 1938 global record set by Howard Hughes of 91 hours, 14 minutes. A pilot and flight engineer will handle the plane, with Reynolds occasionally helping at the controls.

Stops are planned at Paris, Cairo, Calcutta, Shanghai, Tokio and Anchorage, Alaska.

DUBLIN, March 29 (AP).—There were heavy hearts in Dublin today.

The Guinness brewery announced it would have to stop the manufacture of stout within a month unless it can get more coal.

Thousands Begin Rocky Pilgrimage

JERUSALEM, March 29 (CP).—More than 10,000 persons will make a pilgrimage tomorrow marking the entry of Christ into here some 2,000 years ago by walking down the rocky slopes of the Mount of Olives in traditional Palm Sunday observances.

Palm Sunday will be the start of a week of religious observances being marked by three religious faiths who regard Jerusalem as a holy city. The three faiths are Arabs, Christians and Jews.

The week includes the start of the holy Jewish Feast of the Passover starting Friday, and the annual observance of the Moslems of the Feast of the Prophet which starts Thursday.

Big Gambling Games Reported On Ships Returning to China

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—Port authorities tonight declined to discuss reports that ships carrying thousands of Chinese back to their homeland have become "gambling dens" as reported in Chinatown circles here.

A Shanghai-bound vessel, the Ss. General Gordon, with 900 Chinese passengers who came from many sections of Canada and the United States to sail from here, was reported as one of the "biggest gambling ships."

The Chinese aboard were said to have $1,800,000 in cash and that three bigtime Chinese gamblers from Vancouver, B.C., were in charge of the games.

At Vancouver, police refused to comment, except to say that big lotteries and gambling houses in the Canadian city's Chinatown have closed following a recent anti-vice campaign.

The reports here on the General Gordon said games will be played in the ship's hold and steerage—Um Gow, Fan Tan and Chee Fah, all favorite pastimes of many Chinese.

It was also reported that the men in charge of the games have been making from $26,000 to $30,000 a voyage, the operators taking their cut on each game.

Next Task of Junior Group Is "Paint-Up, Clean-Up Week"

With the large-scale project of the B.C. Products Fair successfully completed, members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce are now making plans for the annual "Paint-Up—Clean-Up Week," which is to be in full swing between May 10 and 17.

"This activity requires the combined efforts and consideration of all members, in order to make the campaign a success in the community," George Beck, publicity committee chairman, said last night.

Additional members are now being sought by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which has been reorganized with definite committees on projects that require the interest and ability of active young men. Membership applications are available from any member or from Justin Harbourd, membership committee chairman, or at the offices in the Arcade Building, Government Street.

May Be Used Here

Parking meters, such as the one shown above, may soon be in operation in the downtown area here if recommendations of the public works committee receive the approval of the City Council. Dr. J. D. Hunter, chairman, announced Friday that his committee would seek permission to draw up plans for the installation of the meters and would also ask authority to determine which type of meter should be installed. City and police officials are known to favor the installation of the meters as a means of reducing the parking problem in the shopping district. No capital expenditure by the city would be involved in the installation of the meters, it was pointed out, the meter company making the installation receiving payment from earnings of the machines. The meter shown above allows one hour's parking for a nickel. Another type allows 12 minutes' parking for each penny deposited or one hour for a nickel.

Children Busy Rehearsing 22 Plays For Presentation in Festival Here

Plans for the seventh annual Greater Victoria School Drama Festival, to be held during the week of April 21, are rapidly nearing completion, officials of the school and community drama branch of the Department of Education announced today.

Various school auditoriums throughout the city have been engaged in which to present the bill of 22 one-act plays entered in the festival this year, and school children are busily engaged in rehearsals under the critical eye of dramatic teachers.

To evaluate the work of the student actors, the Department of Education has procured the services of Roth G. Gordon, M.A., dramatic instructor at Templeton Junior High School in Vancouver. Mr. Gordon brings to his task a wealth of experience in the field of dramatics, having been for many years engaged in school and little theatre theatricals in the Mainland city. For some years he has been engaged in dramatizing historical subjects for 16 mm. film shorts for use in the visual education classes in Canadian schools.

PROCEEDS PROVIDE SCHOLARSHIPS

The festival committee plans to apportion the proceeds from the display partly to worthy charities and partly to the provision of scholarships to university Summer courses in dramatics for outstanding actors and actresses in the festival.

The 1946 scholarship winners were Miss Olive Doran, of Esquimalt High School, and David Lawless, of St. Louis College. Both will bring to the festival this year the benefits derived from their attendance at the University of Alberta School of drama at Banff last Summer.

The festival will be conducted on non-competitive lines, but Mr. Gordon, the adjudicator, will criticize the production each evening, and will select from the many entries a bill of three contrasting plays to be presented at an honor performance on Saturday, April 26.

Dr. G. M. Weir, Provincial Minister of Education, will send off the parade at Oak Bay High School on Monday, April 21, with Mayor Percy E. George officiating at the honor performance.

Miss Anne F. Adamson, festival secretary, released today the bill of plays to be seen in the competition "The Mystery at the Depot," by Brentwood College; "The Ghost in the Green Gown," and "The Pie and the Tart," by Central Junior High School; "Scenes from the School for Scandal," and "The Grand Cham's Diamond," by Esquimalt High School; "The Ghost Train," Act 1, by John Oliver High School, Vancouver; "Trial Scene From The Merchant of Venice," by Mt. Douglas High School; at the Stroke of Twelve," "Campbell of Kilhohr," and "Joint Owners in Spain," by Mt. Newton High School; "The Night of the Trojan War," "The Wedding," by Mt. View High; "Sunday Costs Five Pesos," by North Saanich High; "Elizabeth Refuses," from "Pride and Prejudice," by Oak Bay High School; "Nobody Home," by Oaklands School; "The Name Is Johnston," by Qualicum Beach Boys School; "Sunday Costs Five Pesos," by Sir James Douglas School; "French Canadian Cavalcade," by South Park School; "Fantastic Flight," and "Thank You, Doctor," by St. Louis College; and "Quality Street," Act 1, by Strathcona Lodge.

St. John Unit Holds Banquet

Fourth annual banquet of Victoria Ambulance Division No. 65, St. John Ambulance, Thursday night was attended by more than 150 men and women.

Held at the new headquarters, 715½ View Street, the gathering was addressed by W. C. Mainwaring, O.B.E., provincial commissioner, who urged advancement of brigade activities.

Howard E. MacLean, ambulance officer and divisional secretary, and Mrs. MacLean were presented with a framed illuminated address and traveling bag. The couple will leave shortly for Juneau, Alaska, where Mr. MacLean will be general agent for the C.P.R.

Other speakers were C. H. Stevens, Knight of the Order and vice-president of the British Columbia branch and Mrs. E. Harwood, lady corps superintendent. William Fulton, serving brother of the Order of St. John and honorary president of the division, was chairman.

COOK FINDS NUGGET

A chicken containing a large gold nugget was recently loaded aboard the Canadian navy tug Glenn Devon, it was learned last night. The cook aboard the tug, on finding the nugget, made inquiries as to the origin of the chicken, but could find only that it came from Alberta. He is saving the nugget for a souvenir.

Nearly 500,000 Blooms Distributed As Victoria Observes Daffodil Day

Yesterday was "Daffodil Day" throughout Victoria, and nearly half a million of the golden yellow blooms were distributed to residents and visitors by members of the Women's Auxiliary to the Queen Alexandria Solarium, and the Girl Guides.

Persons presented with the flowers had the opportunity of making a donation to the Solarium, and approximately $1,100 was collected.

The daffodils were provided by G. A. Vantreight, Sr., J. A. Vantreight, Jr., W. Mattrick, and Pacific Flowers Ltd., owners of large Saanich bulb and flower farms. The golden harvest was distributed through efforts of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, and arrangements for distribution were handled [illegible]

Throughout the day Victorians were seen carrying big bunches of daffodils. Many men wore flowers in their buttonholes. The blooms were distributed in large numbers to Greater Victoria hospitals.

Last night about 200,000 blooms were handed out to those attending the British Columbia Products Fair at the Bay Street Armoury.

All passengers from steamships docking at this port from United States cities were also given large bouquets.

Capt. Foster sent a large box of daffodils by airmail express to R. H. Mayo in Ottawa, with a letter describing the "Daffodil Day" program here. "It would be a nice thing," Capt. Foster said, "if we could make this an annual event."

Claxton Plans To Visit City On Thursday

Defence Minister Brooke Claxton, accompanied by Col. H. L. Cameron, defence secretary, will visit H.M.C.S. Naden at Esquimalt and Royal Roads on April 3.

The Ottawa officials will leave April 2 by plane on a visit to the Pacific Coast and Western Canada. They will arrive in Vancouver the same day, according to a Canadian Press report.

Mr. Claxton will meet officers of the Uganda and Crescent April 3. Touring various military establishments, the minister will return to Vancouver April 7, visit Edmonton April 9, Calgary April 10, Regina April 11 and Winnipeg April 12, returning to Ottawa by train.

Service

Human destinies sometimes work out to strange ends. The plans of a lifetime can be swept away overnight. All that men dreamed of and strived for may be removed from their ken in an instant. Mundane goals when reached often carry with them disillusion. Many an individual has been forced to begin life all over again, like an infant learning to walk. That is a strange, hard road. Let fate do what it may, the opportunity for service never deserts a life. If all else fails, there is always a world to mend.

Life can be a strange, a thrilling adventure, when it is lived in terms of service, without self. There is no end to the world's work waiting to be done. There is no lack of broken bodies and crushed spirits that can be healed. There never was a day in which human kindliness was able to reach all those who stood in need of it. Likely there never will be. The world turns. Some individuals thrive, others go down. The bubble-blown inner worlds of individuals shatter like dreams, leaving ruin in their wake. What the moon looks upon in human misery every night has never been, and can never be, wholly known. There is an endless opportunity for true service.

It is only after the individual abandons self and selfish aims that a life can really begin. It is then that the head clears and the heart expends. Life is seen in itself, and not through the lenses of desire and self-conceit. It is not so roseate in color, but a good deal clearer in perspective. Misery, want and neglect can be found on every hand. Injustice grows like a weed. Ill fortune has choked the flowers in many a human garden. The call to clean hearts and to willing hands is there perpetually. Not all of any life is long enough to do the simple, humble, human things that could and should be done in the interests of others.

The Apostle Paul was referring to the reward of the spirit when, in his Epistle to the Galatians, at Gal. v. 22, he wrote this: "But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith . . . meekness, temperance: against such there is no law." Nor is there any law against kindliness in the interest of another, against service from which self has been drained. There is the cure, if we will apply it, for man's inhumanity to man.

Canadian Citizenship

After the rather exhuberant show with which the new Citizenship Act was ushered into force, it must be a deflating experience for the Dominion Government that the act's incidence has scarcely rippled the even surface of Canadian life. No other deduction can be drawn from an item in Hansard than that the vast majority of citizens did not deem its promulgation something that required any action on their part. Answering a question in the House of Commons, the Secretary of State stated that since January 1 citizenship certificates only to the number of 388 had been taken out.

Of these, 190 were granted on grounds of naturalization under other acts, and 198 on account of birth in this country. The remainder of the 12,000,000 Canadians have apparently shown complete apathy to acquisition of a piece of paper certifying to something they have taken for granted all through the years. The spludge of oratory that accompanied various ceremonies throughout the country as certain individuals were formally presented with citizenship certificates seems to have fallen on deaf ears. It would look as though the hand had been overplayed.

The Citizenship Act in itself was a good measure. It clarified Canadian status, and from some points of view that may have been a necessary action. It removed ambiguity, perhaps, from the interpretation placed on this country by some outside observers. Most citizens of this land considered themselves Canadian in any event, however, and obviously have seen no good reason to provide themselves with additional proof in the form of a certificate to that effect. They did not require histrionics to confirm their innermost convictions of citizenship: unless it is they still think a price tag should not be affixed to documentary evidence of affinity with their own country.

Prime of Life

If a few scattered advertisements were to be the criterion the assumption that a man of 40 is too old to work effectively would have an unfortunate repercussion on the individual and national economy of this nation. The contrary has been the experience of a Harvard investigating group, which reached the conclusion familiar to all impartial students of such a theme. It was that the notion there is a rapid decline after 40 years of age in the quantity and quality of work performed is a social myth. The automobile industry, for example, production wages are reported to reach their peak among workers in the 50 to 55 age bracket.

The greatest impetus given to this misleading idea probably stems from athletics, where youth is naturally all-important. Nowadays a premium is set on mere physical speed, and not infrequently to the detriment of skill and experience. An athlete for purposes of commercial sport is deemed to be almost an old man at 30 years of age, whereas in most other fields of endeavor he would just be on the threshold of maturity. Were this philosophy to be extended in practice beyond the sporting arena there would be a disturbing upheaval of accomplishment as well as financial displacement.

A man wrote a book once telling the world that life only began at 40 years of age. From the average viewpoint this may be rather an exaggeration, but equally so is the assumption that life practically ends at that numerical stage. Genius casts its favors on no particular age group. There have been young prodigies as well as older ones, but it is an indisputable fact that many of the world's greatest feats of work were accomplished by individuals over 40. A glance at the Canadian scene in general should convince any skeptic that at 40 years of age the average person is in the prime of life.

The Miracle of a Tree

No one has ever solved the mystery of a tree. How the sap starts once more through its veins; how new leaves break their buds and emerge full-fashioned; how each Spring the tree will leaf and flower and fruit—these things can be weighed and measured accurately enough. But what gives the tree its life? What compels it to round out its undrawn circumference, fully, justly and exactly? That is one of the miracles which Nature presents with such a patient hand.

Some of the giant firs in the Coast area of British Columbia are hundreds of years old. Each year they have added one ring to their girth; each year they have weathered four seasons. Their tall crests look out over the Pacific, an ocean which they knew before Alexander Mackenzie wrote his name on a rock facing west, an ocean some of their number may remember after man himself is gone. Old are the trees, older than man, and perhaps wiser of their kind. Firmly anchored in their great mother, they rock through the centuries, bending before the storm, opening to the full rays of the sun, brooding in the soft twilight, contemplating the silent stars.

It was John Ruskin who pointed out the beauty of a tree. He described its branchings, its proportions, its inevitable sense of balance and form. Today the world knows little more about it, save in chemistry. Chemistry is not life. The miracle, the mystery is still there in a green new world, freshly fashioned this Spring. The birds know that. They use its cover. They comb its branches, built nests in its forks, and roost at night close to the sheltering stem. Perhaps they know why a tree stops growing at its own circumference. Who can tell?

Seen in Passing

Canadian newsprint was $45 a ton when Canada entered the war in 1939. On April 6, the price will move at one Coast plant to $90 a ton, or exactly double. Meanwhile the public continues to enjoy its daily newspaper for a nickel, which is about the biggest value that the country has anywhere to show for such a sum—the world for five cents.

A smile is a free will gift to mankind. It costs little, and yet it can work a power of good. Few lives are so happy but that an unexpected ray of sunshine, fleeting and passing in a moment, is not welcomed. There is magic in it, too. One can watch a smile begin on a street and travel the length of it—handed from individual to individual—until the world for that moment seems a brighter and happier place in which to live. Youth has an innate capacity to smile, but age should not lose it without a struggle. People were not meant to be dill pickles.

Beauty that does not come from the inner heart, that does not radiate and glow through being and not by seeming, is no more permanent than the next rain shower. It is the beauty of mind, the beauty of heart, which, catching something of immortal fire, burns into the consciousness of the beholder. Such beauty is recognized universally.

Few individuals in the world are so sure of themselves that the single response, "Really?" when asked in a tone of surprise, will not shake them to their foundations. Human judgment is always looking for confirmation, for support, for approbation, for anything that will remove the uncertainty of inner doubt. Except in the very young, the doubt is always there, whether it is shown or not.

So Long

So long as day shall follow night—
As there are stars and wind and even song;
And old sweet mothers rocking by the fire,
And still sweet April nights and young desire,
So long as these are here serene, complete,
So will the core of life be sound and sweet.

So long as children love to play and run
And kindly little deeds are thought and done,
So long as tired feet come home at night
And there is fresh cooked food and firelight,
And gentle hands and shoulders wide and strong,
There will be strength to bear the world along.

So long as rainbows flaunt their colors seven,
Above the darkness of a storm-swept heaven,
So long as seeds, dark-prisoned in the land,
Shall burst their tiny cells and grow and stand
A shining miracle above the sod,
So long as these are here . . . there will be God.

The Third Column

By TOM TAYLOR

DEW OF YOUTH

Readers of Oscar Wilde know the fantasy he perpetrated with Dorian Gray when he caused his creation to retain the clear bloom of youth while etching his escapades upon an innocent oil portrait. It was in accord with an age-old search for the elixir of life about which scientists and philosophers, as well as novelists, have moved eloquent through out the centuries.

The "liquid dew of youth," as the son of Polonius described it to his sister, Ophelia, has always been a fascinating topic, and its retention beyond the normal span the goal of many a seeker of the fountain of immortality.

These thoughts came to mind as we sought to pass an hour the other night with Alexander Woollcott, raconteur par excellence and also, as many will remember, the original of "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

Woollcott was discussing, in one of those brief personality sketches he enriches with apt and scholarly analysis, a favorite of his, J. M. Barrie, whom at the moment of Woollcott's writing was being borne to his last resting place in Kirriemuir. Barrie, it seems, had been the financial backer of Captain Scott's fateful expedition to the South Pole—a fact not generally known—and Woollcott was recalling the last letter penned by the explorer as he lay in the trackless wastes of the Antarctic waiting for the end near at hand.

ALPINE STORY

The letter was to Barrie, and the designer of Peter Pan took it with him to St. Andrew's when he was called to deliver a famous address on "Courage." He showed it to the university students there, and of Captain Scott he had this to say:

"When I think of Scott I remember the strange Alpine story of the youth who fell down a glacier and was lost, and of how a scientific companion, one of several who accompanied him, all young, computed that the body would again appear at a certain date and place many years afterwards. When that time came round some of the survivors returned to the glacier to see if the prediction would be fulfilled; all old men now; and the body reappeared as young as on the day he left them. So Scott and his comrades emerge out of the white immensities always young."

Woollcott did not query the questing spirit that makes men brave terrible danger to add to the sum of human knowledge, although other writers have. It is said of George Mallory that when asked why he sought to climb Mount Everest he answered simply: "To reach the top." With men like Scott and Mallory the goal is clear-cut and simple, and the hazards in between are only those which confuse lesser if more numerous mortals.

NEAR THE CREST

And for all the world knows at present Mallory may have reached the top that morning in 1924 when with Irvine he passed from human sight as they toiled the last thousand feet of that great Himalayan peak. It is near the crest in any event that he lies, encased like the Alpinist in the image of his youth.

Thinking further of Barrie, Woollcott took down G. K. Chesterton's book on Charles Dickens, and as a private memorial service, he says, reread the final paragraph:

"We have a long way to travel before we get to what Dickens meant; and the passage is along a rambling English road, a twisting road such as Mr. Pickwick traveled. But this at least is part of what he meant; that comradeship and serious joy are not interludes in our travel; but that rather our travels are interludes in comradeship and joy, which through God shall endure for ever. The inn does not point to the road; the road points to the inn. And all roads point at last to an ultimate inn, where we shall meet Dickens and all his characters; and when we drink again it shall be from the great flagons in the tavern at the end of the world."

MEMORABLE SCENE

And then, being Woollcott, the "Man Who Came to Dinner" went on to imagine the scene as those in that far-off tavern gathered at the door to welcome the coming Barrie. There was Bobby Burns, of course, and the great Sir Walter, and that other Scott who wrote to Barrie, and R. L. Stevenson.

The author of Peter Pan was one of themselves. But Dickens was among the throng, too, and Chesterton—Mallory and Irvine would be there, also, no doubt—and a host of others whose names most of us know well.

And at the back of the group, waiting with characteristic diffidence behind a pillar but upheld with pride at all the great folk gathered to greet her son, Woollcott could visualize Margaret Ogilvy, the real heroine of every story Barrie wrote, and the woman who gave his resplendent youth to a waiting world.

Alexander Woollcott was soon to join that company of whom he wrote so much and so well, although he did not know it when he conjured a scene whose reality he now knows at first hand. He died in June, 1943.

The slim little volume that gave us this captivating hour is on most local bookshelves. It is called "Long, Long Ago."

Getting Up in the Morning Is Human Rub

(Reprinted from The Times, London)

Sir Alan Herbert lately protested against the idea that it was impossible to get up one hour earlier because it was good for one, but possible through the deception of a mechanical trick. It was, he said repugnant. And yet for many it is not nearly so repugnant as the idea of getting up an hour earlier than they need of—here is the rub—than other people do. They have an invincible objection to being done out of the sleep that those sluggards are enjoying, and deliberately to do themselves out of it does not make it more tolerable.

One of Sir Harry Lauder's most famous songs proclaims that "it's nice to get up in the morning when the sun begins to shine," and it is certainly nicer than when "it's murky overhead," but that is not enough. A particular and not a merely general benefit is wanted as a stimulus. To rise with the lark demands a lark in prospect. He who is setting out for some beloved spot can fling off the blankets with a zest; he is full of youthful vigor and in a mood to taste the beauty of the morning.

Lord Grey of Fallodon wrote a charming account of crossing the river early on a Summer morning to catch a train at Waterloo. "You may," he said, "feel more reconciled to London than at any other time, and understand Wordsworth's tribute to the sight from Westminster Bridge." Of course he understood it; his train was bound for Hampshire; the naiads of the Itchen or the Test were calling in his ears; he was going fishing.

The return journey is a different matter. To tip-toe through the silent house, where, snug in bed, lie others whose holiday's end is yet distant; to come down to a hurried, solitary breakfast; to trudge dogedly to the station—here is nothing to stir the pulse.

In vain for me the smiling mornings shine
And redd'ning Phoebus lifts his golde fire

the traveler exclaims in passionate dejection, while taking a purely formal interest in the labelling of his homebound luggage.

Even the pleasure of getting up, when it is one, often brings its revenges. To sacrifice the one long lie of the week on a Sunday morning in order to walk through dewy meadows for a bathe before breakfast was once admittedly tempting, but the torpor that ensued, especially in chapel, was prostrating. This misery need not attend the traveler on his happy journey, since he is for the time being his own law-giver and can fall on his sandwiches not when the clock but when hunger bids him. But in workaday life early rising produces by noon a dreadful lassitude and a craving for luncheon, not to be appeased for a whole weary hour and arousing no sympathy whatever.

Perhaps it is not so much positive sympathy that is needed, as a fellowship in suffering. Let there be others who have got up early too and we can tighten our belts and prop our eyelids open with some show of manhood; but to rise at seven, alone and with no clearly defined purpose, while the rest of the world waits till eight demands too high a degree of heroism.

Letters to the Editor

MILK AND PRICES

Sir,—Now that the agricultural committee of the House has rendered its report it might be worth while to look at the result in so far as milk is concerned.

Mr. Carr, the board, has a free hand—the consumer pays as usual, but this time in advance and on the dot.

The producer is also paid but later, thus the distributor is financed by the consumer and the producer supplies the material which the distributor delivers for a consideration of six to eight cents per bottle. What a set-up. The consumer and producer may be only one or two jumps ahead of the sheriff. The distributor has a start of ten or more days and so may keep ahead so long as the supply holds out.

There are other absurdities in the various orders, such as 11 cents for a quart of skim milk, and one must not give away a bottle of milk to a needy person. Apparently the distributor does not want the prices raised; a raise may cut the volume of trade they say.

Speaking of prices, if a bottle of "pop" containing six and a half ounces sells at seven cents, how much is a pint or 20 ounces of milk worth?

RIDING AT WILLOWS

Sir,—Recently there was an article in the local papers regarding the Victoria Riding Academy giving up their school after a period of 25 years. Is there anything which can be done to prevent the school from being forced to leave the Willows? The most important part of the school is the indoor ring where the riders can enjoy their riding during dreary weather. Another important point in having the school at the Willows is its accessibility for people who haven't cars.

Almost all cities of any size have a riding school as a tourist attraction as well as for the benefit of their local citizens. Why not Victoria?

The Victoria Riding Academy should be a valuable asset to Victoria since thousands of pupils have been taught to ride and to jump there throughout the years. These people have publicized the school all over the Northwest Continent so that now tourists come to Victoria for the riding.

Hundreds of our own children are still being taught to ride throughout the year, due to having the indoor ring at the school for Winter weather. It would be too bad to deny the youngsters this sport.

Many others as well as myself would appreciate it if something could be done to maintain the Victoria Riding Academy at the Willows with the same facilities it now has for riding during the Winter weather.

CLEAN STREETS

Sir,—Thank you for inserting my letter on a clean up of Victoria! Quite a number of people have cleared their places of debris; but I do not yet see any receptacles for it and there should be some along the main streets and near tuck shops. Can anything be done at the harbor where so much rubbish comes down from the west side near the oil station?

Victoria is so dear to many of us that we would like her to be clean and beautiful.

It might interest you to know that in the part of Hampstead in London where I lived an old veteran is employed with a push cart to keep certain streets clean and several elderly men do this throughout that part of London.

Thanking you for your space,

ANOTHER VIEW

Sir,—As the Easter season is approaching it is hoped that parents and friends of children will refrain from giving them live bunnies or chicks. These innocent creatures die by the thousands each year through improper food and care and too rough handling. Children do not mean to be cruel or unkind towards their new playmates but if they are accustomed to playing with larger pets, who are able to look after themselves, their play is generally too rough for baby chicks and bunnies who become sick and eventually die, thereby causing grief to the little owners.

Victoria in Beard and Crinoline

From Files of The British Colonist for March, 1860

By G. E. MORTIMORE

The sad fate of a man who crossed the street against his friends' better judgment was related in The British Colonist:

"HE WOULD DO IT. Yesterday morning, a ferocious-looking middle-aged gentleman, with a large black moustache, attempted to cross Yates Street just above Government.

"Two friends endeavoured to dissuade the doomed man from his rash purpose; but to no avail! He left the sidewalk, and plunged into the sea of mud. Until he reached the centre of the street, all looked well; he had only lost one boot, and no mud appeared above his knees.

"He turned and bowed to his companions, who stood awaiting in breathless anxiety to result of the rash experiment, and then proceeded. Two steps more and he sank to his middle! Then the thought rushed across his mind that he had done a very foolish thing. He endeavoured to turn, in order to retrace his steps; but he could not. The mud held him fast, and slowly but surely he was sinking!

"His black moustache bristled and stood out 'like quills on a fretful porcupine'; his hat raised upon his hair and his face looked as white as a clean shirt upon a clothes line.

"The mud was now at his arm pits! He made one convulsive effort to extricate himself, but alas! the more he tried to escape, the deeper he sank into the yielding muck. It has reached his moustache! Good heavens! that beautiful, black, bristling moustache was about to find a muddy grave! The thought was maddening.

"Again, he strove to extricate himself, but down, down he went! The mud had reached his eyes—moustache has disappeared—his arms had also gone from our gaze.

"Slowly he turned his optics and gazed around for one last look, winked twice at a Siwash on the sidewalk, knit his noble brow into as many furrows as there are spokes in a cartwheel, and sank to rise no more.

"We say, no more. But his moustache, as if scorning to be brought in contact with such vile substances as abound in our streets, soon rose triumphantly from its filthy grave, and at five o'clock last evening remained visible, guarding the spot where the owner had disappeared with its bristles!

"It is supposed that no effort will be made to recover the body, as being already buried, his friends would only incur a heavy expense to reinter it, and the chances are the work might not be half as well done."

While perhaps not strictly true in every detail, this moving and dramatic story conformed at least to poetic truth. From accounts of those times it seems certain that the winter mire of Victoria streets was something awe-inspiring, and it needs little stretch of the imagination to visualize men and vehicles disappearing in the sticky mess, never to be seen again. So Victorians might do well to tread lightly, for one never knows whose bones might lie underfoot.

Chicago Voting Is Major Test

CHICAGO, March 29 (AP).—Chicago will select a new mayor Tuesday in an election which the Republican high command regards as an important tactical skirmish leading to the next year's presidential battle.

The contest in Mayor Edward J. Kelly's democratic stronghold will have national interest because:

1. [illegible] the party strength since the 1946 congressional vote.

2. The outcome could determine which way the state's 28 electoral votes would go in the 1948 presidential race.

After 14 years in the mayor's chair, Kelly stepped aside this year to support Martin J. Kennelly, 59-year-old businessman, who will oppose Russell W. Root, 48-year-old lawyer, supported by Gov. Dwight H. Green's Republican organization.

Root has made an issue of the Truman Administration's handling of foreign affairs.

Asserting that the Republican Party "is against war with Communist Russia," Root has told campaign rallies that "a vote for the Democratic candidate for mayor will be a vote for war."

The Republicans have put up posters saying, "Vote against a new war. Vote Republican."

Kennelly has stressed local issues, expressing "unalterable opposition" to "graft and corruption in government."

Truman-Stalin Meet Advocated by Mundt

WASHINGTON, March 29 (AP).—A personal conference between Marshal Stalin and President Truman to iron out differences between Communist Russia and democratic powers was urged today by Rep. Mundt (R., S.D.) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

The navy earlier ordered two battleships and two [illegible] to Northern Europe this Summer on a training cruise which will stop short of any Russian waters.

Mr. Truman has shown no inclination recently to travel to another big-power meeting, telling news conference questioners that he does not see that any good could come out of further parleys by the chiefs of state at this time. However, Mundt told reporters:

"I feel that only through such a conference can we secure the clear-cut outline of the area of agreement which can and must be developed between these great countries in the critical field of international relations."

He said the administration's $400,000,000 measure to help Greece and Turkey curb Communism amounts only to action "on the fringe of the international march of Communism."

Consideration must also be given, Mundt said, to "analogous cases such as Iran and Iraq, Korea, China, as well as such other countries which are soon likely to find themselves in a similar situation namely Norway, Sweden, Finland, Italy, Lebanon, Egypt and Syria."

"Consequently," said Mundt, "the proper place to stop the aggressive force of Communism is in Moscow by insisting upon an early understanding in the following connection:

1. "Effective international safeguards against the fabrication and use of atom bombs.

2. "The real prerogatives and purposes of the United Nations as an influence protecting the autonomy of independent states.

3. "The boundary lines and external policies that are to prevail in this postwar world."

Urging speed, Mundt declared:

"While we are attempting to stop Communism at its fringes, nations everywhere are attempting to stockpile atom bombs and unless we have speed the time for action may come too late."

The navy said the nearest the warships will go to the Baltic Sea, where [illegible] Copenhagen, Denmark.

The squadron will be commanded by Rear Admiral John Perry and will arrive in European waters about June 19 for a month's stay.

The fire is believed to have started in two different places in the vacant house, the flames sweeping up from the basement.

The motorist awakened the people in the Graham home, and helped to remove furniture as the flames threatened destruction.

"He disappeared before I could even thank him," said Mr. Graham. "He saved my family's life and my home."

School-Leaving Age Raised in Britain

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 30 (CP). — The school-leaving age for British youngsters will be raised from 14 to 15 next Tuesday, despite long parliamentary discussions as to whether 390,000 additional children should be kept in school an extra year at [illegible] hand in industry.

"This extra year can and should be used to widen the child's vision of mind so that he or she becomes as a result more adaptable, quicker to master new techniques and grasp new ideas by which we as a nation not only will survive but remain great," George Tomlinson, Education Minister, has said.

The extra year is the first step toward the educationists' goal of secondary education for all.

Education authorities say there will undoubtedly be accommodation difficulties in some areas when the effect of the extra year of school is fully felt this Autumn. But temporary school buildings are being used and they are expected to be sufficient until new buildings can be constructed.

It is hoped 13,000 new teachers will be ready for school opening in September. With that number, the total number of teachers in State-aided primary and secondary schools will be 189,000.

Experiments in education are being conducted and the schools will be devoted more to the child's own interests. For example, a boy interested in building model engines but finding difficulty with mathematics may be set to drawing plans to scale which will develop his ability to use numbers.

All children between 11 and 15 will have the amenities of a secondary school with equal standards for each type of school—modern, grammar and technical. These schools will serve the children by giving them educations along lines for which they appear to have the greatest aptitude.

Unusual harmony prevails in the Commons when educational matters are discussed. Even staunch Labor supporters agree that the Education Act of 1944, for which Conservative R. A. Butler, former Education Minister, was largely responsible, is progressive legislation designed to give every British child a fair educational chance.

Even famous privately-owned public schools like Eton and Harrow no longer are closed to those without means since they are required to assist the State program. The path to the universities is being eased for poorer British children by Government scholarships and grants.

King Describes Royal Tour As "Six Very Happy Weeks

PRETORIA, March 29 (Reuters).—Reference to his "constant anxiety" about Britain's fuel and weather crisis as the only flaw to "six very happy weeks" in South Africa were made by King George in a speech at a state banquet in the City Hall here tonight.

Thanking Field Marshal Smuts, South African Premier, for his welcome to Pretoria, administrative capital of the union, the King, whose speech was broadcast by the B.B.C., said:

"Our memories are rich in store of the loyalty, goodwill and affection which have been offered to us in such generous measure during the last six weeks. I thank you, and through you the people of the Union of South Africa, for an experience that has been as heartening as its recollection will, I believe, be everlasting.

"It has certainly given me six very happy weeks. Indeed the only unhappy memory that I shall have of them will be due to my constant anxiety about the cruel ordeal which the people of Great Britain have undergone since I left them at the end of January—an ordeal made even more severe by all that we had to endure there from our enemies during the war.

"But even that anxiety has been easier to bear," the King continued, "because of the evidences that I have found everywhere of the sympathy felt by South Africans for the men and women of the British Isles who have been facing their troubles so courageously."

The King cited a prayer which he had heard a South African congregation offer up for Britain in her present difficulties, as symbolizing "the spirit which must inspire our whole Commonwealth and Empire—an understanding of each other's troubles, a wish to help and a determination to solve our problems together."

Cripps Warns Of New Loans

LONDON, March 29 (AP).—Britain may have to borrow £350,000,000 ($1,400,000,000) from abroad this year, Sir Stafford Cripps, chairman of the Board of Trade, warned today.

"That is the amount by which we cannot balance our payments by exports," he told 500 delegates from trade unions, the Labor Party and co-operative guilds meeting in London.

He said, nevertheless, he wished food imports increased.

"Already in my view they are on too low a level for the people," Cripps said. "We wish we could afford more but we have not got the dollars with which to get it, and unfortunately food prices in America have risen by 30 per cent.

Sir Stafford said the trouble with Britain's food supply was "variety," not quantity. "On any calculation of the calories, there is enough, but the real drawback is that the variety is so small, so much sameness, and so little chance of change."

He said he had "done my best to get the Soviet Union to do a deal on industry of any kind, particularly in timber, but unfortunately for reasons which no doubt suit their economy, they are not able to do it."

Hen Better Off Than Steno Says Member From Kootenay

OTTAWA, March 28 (CP). — The cause of the Commons' stenographer was taken up with gusto in the House today.

Using supplementary estimates as the basis for argument, Stanley Knowles (C.C.F., Winnipeg North Centre) urged that the girls who do the members' typing should:

1. Have the protection of a pension plan.

2. Have traveling expenses once a year from their homes to Parliament so that girls could come here from other parts than the Ottawa area.

3. Have better, less crowded working conditions.

The Government could help out by taking off the tax on soft drinks, current cause of a heavy correspondence.

James Sinclair (L., Vancouver North) supporting Mr. Knowles, said arrangements should be made to enable members to bring in secretaries from their own ridings. Working conditions should be improved and the stenographers should be given a proper civil service status.

George Cruickshank (L., Fraser Valley) said "Conditions in the stenographic pool would be greatly improved if the Eastern members in particular did not use it to conduct their legal, mining and other businesses."

H. W. Herridge (People's C.C.F., Kootenay West) said he had made a comparison through the Department of Agriculture and had come to the conclusion that Commons stenographers had less square feet of window space in their typing room than was required for an average hen.

The department had reported that an average hen needed a square foot of window space. There were 17 stenographers working in a room with only 12 feet of window space.

Police Seek Six Gunmen

TORONTO, March 29 (CP).—Police are searching for six gunmen in connection with three holdups staged here tonight.

In the first, a lone bandit robbed an east end dairy of $3,500. Later two men robbed a cleaning and dyeing establishment of $100 and still later, three men, one of whom was armed, robbed a grocery store of $230.

44-Hour Week Covers Mines Court Decides

The British Columbia Hours of Work Act, which limits working hours per week to 44, is applicable to employees in mines, quarries and metallurgical works, within the meaning of the Metalliferous Mines Regulation Act, and also to employees of the Empress Hotel here.

This decision was handed down by the Court of Appeal of British Columbia and released by George S. Pearson, Provincial Secretary, yesterday. The court was presided over by Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan, and comprised Mr. Justice C. H. O'Halloran, Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson, Mr. Justice Sidney Smith and Mr. Justice H. I. Bird.

The questions had been referred to the Appeal Court by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council under the provisions of the Constitutional Questions Determination Act.

The court also ruled that the Hours of Work Act applied to mine workers regardless of any collective bargaining agreement allowing longer hours which may be in effect between employees and employers.

Since railways generally come under the jurisdiction of the Dominion rather than the Provincial Government some question had arisen as to the extent the employees of the Canadian Pacific Railway's Empress Hotel were governed by the British Columbia Hours of Work Act.

Mr. Justice O'Halloran dissented from the majority opinion of the Chief Justice and other members on the [illegible] question.

Irish Sweepstakes Winner To Continue With His Job

TORONTO, March 30 (CP).—Only Canadian to hit the jackpot of $100,000 in the Irish Sweepstakes, Russell Long of Toronto intends to continue with his job of entering burning buildings to shut off the illuminating gas supply.

The 38-year-old emergency truck driver of the Consumers Gas Company said Saturday "I feel just a little sick at the tummy at this moment," when his wife telephoned him the news.

Under the nom-de-plume of All So Ran, he held ticket number BE50230 on Caughoo, long-shot winner of the Grand National steeplechase at Aintree. But he kept right on working until he could get a relief man and then went home to a joyous ceberation with his wife, his 13-year-old daughter and friends.

He was one of 46 Canadians whose tickets were drawn on horses earlier in the week and whose venture paid an estimated total of $195,112 in actual prizes and additional $5,848 in residual and consolation prizes. Of these there were only four money winners and two of these remained unidentified.

One, who stands to win $40,000 on the second place Lough Conn, held ticket No. MV94964 under the nom-de-plume of Bill and the other, with a potential $20,000 from the third-place horse Kami, used the nom-de-plume of Cab and ticket AL47006.

The other winner (of $20,000 on Kami) was Douglas Martin of Toronto, employee of a manufacturing jewelry firm. The other 42 Canadians whose horses failed to place qualified for minimum prizes of $336 each. Five others won residual and consolation awards aggregating $5,848.

Long, who said he intends to keep on living in the home his family occupied for 27 years on West-Central Montrose Avenue, declared: "I am just an ordinary person and I have no intention of changing. . . I used to dream of winning a sweepstake and think of all the things I could buy. Right now I can't think of anything. I just feel good all over."

His wife said he followed the fire engines and entered blazing buildings to shut off the gas supply and give aid to asphyxiated persons.

"It is a dangerous job but Russell thinks it's wonderful."

She added with a happy laugh: "I guess we can get that Summer cottage now."

Toronto's $20,000 winners — the Martins — excitedly said they were going to buy the house they had longed for. The young couple live in a flat.

Bernard Shaw Urges Britain To Adopt Collective Farming

LONDON, March 29 (AP).—George Bernard Shaw, in a letter to The Times of London today, urged Britain to turn to collective farming on the Russian model.

The playwright said that after early Soviet experiments at solving agricultural problems Stalin "found the solution in collective farming."

"It is obvious enough—I myself have urged it again and again—," he declared, "that to expect an average farmer to be not only a sower and reaper, but an agricultural chemist, an accountant, a meteorologist, a veterinary expert, a merchant and financier, and a resident housekeeper, all united in a single admirable Crichton, is ridiculous; yet this is our practice . . .

"The collective farm employs not only the best brains in the country, but provides as well for hodge a little holding all to himself: the equivalent of our three acres and a cow."

("Hodge" is an English colloquialism for a rustic.)

"As a man of letters I may not steal a horse, but I may look over a hedge," Shaw wrote.

"My observation has convinced me that under our existing agricultural system only two classes of farmer can succeed in business; the man who has a sensible wife and is in his shirt sleeves 16 hours a day, and the landlord of a great estate who is wise enough to employ professional scientific advisers every season to dictate the farming operation."

Elsie Matthews Wed At Quiet Ceremony

The marriage of Elsie Doris, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Matthews, 3161 Shelbourne Street, to Gordon Edward Lewis, son of Mrs. Irene Lewis, Winnipeg, and the late Mr. Lewis, took place at a quiet ceremony performed in the vestry of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Wednesday evening, with Rev. J. L. W. McLean reading the nuptial rites.

Wearing a frock of blue satin styled with short sleeves and overskirt of double net, the pretty bride was given away by her father. Her net veil fell to her finger tips from a coronet of blue net and flowers. Completing her costume was a bouquet composed of pink carnations, blue irises and pink heather.

Mrs. William Chater, the bride's only attendant, was gowned in rose crepe with pink feather hat edged with veiling. Her flowers were white carnations and heather. The best man was Mr. William Chater.

Following the ceremony a small reception was held at the bride's home where her sister, Miss Margaret Matthews played the wedding march as the couple entered. Mr. Chater gave the toast to the bride and groom.

For a honeymoon up the Island, the bride donned a grey ensemble with matching feather hat, and a corsage of yellow roses. The couple will make their home on Cadboro Bay Road.

Couple to Live In Vancouver

Tall baskets of plum blossoms, croft and native lilies, daffodils and tulips formed a lovely setting in St. Paul's United Church, Sidney, for the marriage of Dorothy Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Hall, Dominion Experimental Station, Saanichton, to Sergeant David Melvin Petch, R.C.A.F., Patricia Bay, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Petch, Malsqui, B.C. Rev. E. S. Flemming performed the ceremony at 8 p.m. March 22.

The traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. J. Routledge, Lougheed, Alta., and while the register was being signed Miss Barbara Gurney sang "Because" and "O Perfect Love."

The bride, lovely in a satin gown fashioned on Elizabethan lines with lily point sleeves, was given away by her father. Her filmy veil was arranged under a coronet of pearls. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, the gift of the groom, and she carried a shower bouquet of pink carnations and white heather to complete her charming ensemble.

Mrs. Barry Hall, sister-in-law of the bride, as matron of honor, was gowned in pale yellow embossed organdie and carried an arm bouquet of daffodils and double narcissi. The bridesmaid, Miss Sylvia Cooke, Vancouver, wore a bouffant frock of orchid net complimented by a bouquet of pink tulips and double narcissi.

Mr. V. M. Johnson, Vancouver, was the groomsman, and acting as ushers were Mr. B. Hall, brother of the bride, and Mr. S. Bryce, Abbotsford.

At the reception held at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Petch assisted the young couple in receiving the guests. Mr. E. B. Prowd proposed the toast. For a honeymoon at Harrison Hot Springs, the bride chose a black and white shepherd's check suit with three-quarter-length topcoat in American Beauty red, black and grey accessories. They will make their home in Vancouver.

Phyllis Roberts Wed at St. Mary's

At St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, last evening Archdeacon A. E. de L. Nunns solemnized the marriage of Phyllis Vaughan, only daughter of Mrs. J. Vaughan Roberts, 1721 Hampshire Road, to Leonard Wilson Rossiter, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. F. Rossiter, Comox. Mr. James Gerry presided at the organ.

The bride, given away by Dr. J. A. Stewart, was radiant in a pearl grey crepe afternoon dress styled with cap sleeves, and worn with long black gloves, smart black feather hat, and corsage of red roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Stuart Kimball, Spokane, wearing a turquoise afternoon gown with black hat and long gloves, and a corsage of gardenias and pink roses, was the bride's only attendant.

The bridegroom had his brother Mr. Alan Rossiter, Vancouver, as his best man, and the ushers were Mr. R. H. Spooler and Mr. R. J. Spooler.

The reception was held at the bride's home where Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Rossiter received the guests with the bride and groom. A profusion of daffodils decorated the reception rooms and the bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake. Dr. Stewart proposed the health of the bride.

Leaving by motor for a honeymoon up the Island, the bride donned a black topcoat over her wedding costume. Mr. and Mrs. Rossiter will make their home at Campbell River.

Five-Day Week At City Hall Recommended

Toward the end of April or the beginning of May the City Hall staff will begin a five-day week if the recommendation of the civic service committee receives the approval of the City Council tomorrow, Alderman H. M. Diggon, chairman, said yesterday.

The move will be made on an experimental basis for a few months, he said, to determine if adequate service can be provided to the public with the hall closed all day on Saturdays. To compensate for the reduction in the number of days worked per week, the staff will begin work at 8:30 a.m. instead of the usual 9 a.m.

If the committee recommendation receives the approval of the council, working conditions in the City Hall will be brought into line with those in the municipal halls of each of the outside municipalities.

Oak Bay has operated on a five-day week for some time, while Saanich and Esquimalt have announced that the shorter week will be in effect on April 1.

Decision to recommend the change was made by the civic service committee after a meeting Friday, during which the heads of all civic service departments were consulted on the question, Ald. Diggon stated.

House Is Moved To New Location

An 87-year-old prefabricated house, originally brought to Victoria from England as a rectory for the first Bishop of Columbia, was yesterday moved 100 feet to the rear of its old location beside the office of the King's Printer, on Superior Street.

The building, made of corrugated iron, was sent from England by the Baroness Burdett-Coutts in response to an appeal from the bishop for a large church. Most of the iron was used to build the first St. John's Church of Victoria, which stood until 1920 when the property was sold to the Hudson's Bay Company as a site for its present store.

As the bishop, Rt. Rev. George Hills, already had a house, the house was erected on the Superior Street site, used first as a dwelling and later as a government office. Today it houses the artist and cameraman of the British Columbia Travel Bureau.

FIRST PARKDALE CUB PACK

The weekly meeting of the First Parkdale Cub Pack was well attended. Dick Smith and Lawrence Huston were invested as Cubs and presented with their Tenderpad badges. Dennis Jones was awarded the Collector's badge. Sixers and seconds will meet at the home of Mrs. Kirkham on Monday night for handicraft. On April 1 at 8 p.m. the Parkdale parents will hold their regular monthly meeting in St. Mark's Hall, Tennyson Avenue. All parents are asked to attend.

FIRST PARKDALE SCOUT TROOP

Patrol Leader Victor Shemilt opened the weekly meeting of the Wolf Patrol. Rodney Blanshard of the Beaver Patrol was invested as a Scout and received his tenderfoot badge.

THIRD VICTORIA SCOUT TROOP

The regular meeting of the Third Victoria Scout Troop was held outdoors this week. Terry Murdock was invested as a regular member of the troop. Stanley Pollard passed his tenderfoot law and camp gadget tests. Bill Hurst passed his electrician's and entertainer's tests.

Easter Egg Has Historical Background

Traditional memento of Easter, the egg has played a big part in the celebration of the occasion. Upper left picture shows early German print with children hunting for eggs; upper right are two rare examples of Pennsylvania Dutch handicraft—a toy pitcher made of an egg and calico and a decorated egg. In the centre are German hard-boiled eggs painted in 1900. Bottom row shows three 1947 Easter cards using the same idea, even to the bow ties.

Public May See D.V.A. Hospital

A special invitation has been extended to the citizens of Victoria to inspect the new Department of Veterans' Affairs Hospital when it opens April 8 at 3 p.m., S. H. Okell, assistant D.V.A. district administrator, said yesterday.

R. W. Mayhew, M.P. for Victoria, will officiate at the opening ceremony, and will unveil the plaque located on the corner of the front entrance. Veterans' Affairs Minister Ian Mackenzie is expected to be in attendance.

Mr. Okell said the invitation to the public came after a number of phone calls. Special invitations have been sent out to inspect the $1,000,000 building.

Ruling Altered On Commissions

University undergraduates accepted in the Canadian Officers' Training Corps will be given the status of second lieutenants, but will not be commissioned under a recent ruling from Army Headquarters in Ottawa.

Previously, it was announced that those accepted into the corps would be immediately appointed with temporary commissions, and that they would retain that rank through training.

Under the new ruling, members of the corps will be known as officer cadets; will be paid as second lieutenants; be subject to military law while training and liable to undergo annual military training.

Efforts are being made to make the Welfare Council the machinery to avoid overlapping and to unite as a body all organizations and citizens interested in the welfare of the community.

MELBOURNE, Australia (CP).—Three Australian timber men who took an air taxi from the State of Victoria to Sandakan, Borneo, found the mileage fare cheaper than for a taxicab. The 3,950-mile trip cost about five cents a mile, compared with 16 cents a mile for taxis here.

Lodge Marks Anniversary

B.P.O.E. Victoria Lodge No. 2 celebrated its 34th birthday with a banquet at Terry's banquet room.

Exalted Ruler R. J. Begg welcomed more than 250 members and friends. Immediate Past Exalted Ruler C. C. Howard proposed the toast to the order and Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler Percy Payne responded, giving an outline of the work ahead, particularly in connection with the caring of the destitute children of Europe, to which the organization subscribes through its Save the Children Fund.

Following the banquet members proceeded to the lodge rooms to dance.

VEHICLES DAMAGED

Little damage was done to either vehicle when a Vancouver Island Coach Lines bus, northbound on Quadra Street, was in collision with an automobile, also northbound, driven by William A. Davis, 900 Fort Street, about 12:15 p.m. yesterday, according to a report from Saanich police.

Police said the bus, driven by Henry F. Woodward, 1270 Kings Road, was traveling empty to Sidney when it collided with the rear of Mr. Davis' automobile, which had stopped to avoid another car on Quadra Street near Inverness Street.

DUNDEE, Scotland (CP).—Stanley A. White, survivor of the 1917 sinking of the submarine K-12 in the Gareloch, died 21 years after retiring from the British Navy.

Municipal Briefs Of the District

A request was made yesterday to Mayor Percy E. George to send city delegates to the second annual meeting of the Community Centre Conference at the University of British Columbia Acadia Camp. Dr. Henrietta Anderson, of Victoria, will be one of the speakers.

A radio program featuring the Esquimalt Schools Band, under the direction of Harry Bigsby, will be sponsored by the Greater Victoria School Board from 2:30 to 3 p.m. today, it was announced yesterday.

Plans and specifications for the new Saanich fire hall on East Saanich Road near Sayward Road have now been completed and tenders for its construction will be called within the next few days, it was announced yesterday by John Tribe, municipal clerk. Accommodation will be provided in the one-story hall for two fire trucks and sleeping quarters for fire-fighters will be included. It is understood the new hall will necessitate an addition of 11 men to the Saanich fire department.

Fire Chief Joseph Raymond has recommended to the City Council that approval be given to the application of R. Lyall, 54 Obed Avenue, to install a 1,000-gallon gasoline tank at 1215 Quadra Street.

Miss Laurraine Steel, 1014 Catherine Street, has written to Mayor Percy E. George protesting removal of the Victoria Riding Academy from the Willows fair grounds. Describing the riding school as "a valuable asset" to the city, Miss Steele's letter said, "Almost all cities of any size have a riding school as a tourist attraction as well as for the benefit of the local citizens, therefore why not Victoria?"

Councillor R. A. B. Wootton, of Oak Bay, will represent that municipality on the Greater Victoria transportation committee this year, the City Council was advised by letter yesterday. Reeve E. J. Read, of Esquimalt, and Reeve E. C. Warren and Councillor John Oliver, of Saanich, were named to the committee by the respective councils earlier in the year.

Permits Issued During Week Show Increase

Following a slump during the past few weeks, value of new construction in Victoria, Saanich and Esquimalt passed the quarter million dollar mark during the week ending yesterday, according to figures from the three building departments.

Aided by permits for 12 wartime houses, the city total led the list last week with construction valued at $125,312. Saanich was second with $119,700, while Esquimalt issued permits totaling $12,500. No figures were available from Oak Bay.

Forty-six permits, including those for 22 houses, three large signs and numerous repairs and alterations, were issued by the city building department.

Saanich issued 30 permits, including those for 22 houses, during the past week. Value of the houses was estimated at $114,350.

Three permits for new houses made up the week's total in Esquimalt.

Former Pupils Hold Reunion

More than 260 ex-pupils and teachers of the Lampson Street School gathered in the school auditorium Friday night for a grand reunion.

Open to persons who attended the school more than 15 years ago, the occasion was featured by a dinner and dance, with a varied entertainment program.

Oldest teacher present was L. A. Campbell, who began at the Lampson Street School in 1896; while oldest pupil at the reunion was Mrs. Fred Rickett. Oldest woman teacher at the event was Miss A. D. Cook, and other old-timers were Henry Kroeger, Harold Finmore, Elmer Watson, Bert Smith and Lawrence Rickett.

H. L. Campbell, assistant superintendent of education, a former principal at Lampson Street School, was also present. The event was sponsored by the Esquimalt P.-T.A.

Books and Authors

Hailed as "the king of the mystery field," and "the people's choice for America's greatest living writer," Erle Stanley Gardner was little known except for his superlative mystery stories that have run up the fabulous sale total of more than 20,000,000 copies.

Then along came Alva Johnston, one of the top feature writers of the United States, to chronicle the background of this lawyer, business man and master of the mystery plot and action.

Originally published in The Saturday Evening Post, the short and fascinating biography is now out in book form as "The Case of Erle Stanley Gardner."

William Morrow & Company, New York, the publishers who hit one of the gold mines of the uncertain business with Gardner's epics of the courtroom, also published this biography.

ALSO WRITES AS A. A. FAIR

Mystery fans will learn with some surprise, as this column did, that the extremely popular series about Donald Lam and Bertha Cool is also penned by Gardner under the name of A. A. Fair. The pint-sized detective and the large woman operator of a detective agency come in considerable contrast to the lawyers, —smooth-operating Perry Mason and the energetic young D.A., Douglas Selby—Gardner's characters that complete his big three.

A glance at the record of sales rung up by this author is enough to plant the writing bug in any soul.

Total sales in 1943 were 4,547,922, in 1944 4,903,685 and 6,104,000 for 1945. One publisher of pocket-sized books had rung up the staggering total of 17,146,520 by May, 1946.

It is claimed that Gardner's readers are computed by the tens of millions, a total reached by what is probably the greatest lending library and book-swapping public in the country.

According to Biographer Johnston, Gardner wrote to go hunting—not for the usual reasons of fame and money. As a 34-year-old lawyer of Ventura, Cal., he decided that some other vocation was indicated if he were to fill his yen for hunting. The mail-order business and writing fiction appeared the two alternatives. Writing won out, a fact that has brought rejoicing in his chosen field.

PROVED BRILLIANT IN LAW CAREER

As a lawyer, Gardner was considered to be one of the rising stars of the California Bar. Since then, his fans have included such men as the late John H. Wigmore, law dean of Northwestern University, who said in a fan letter: "Your 'The D.A. Calls It Murder' is your high-water mark. I venture to think. Not only does the plot unfold to a satisfactory (not a forced) solution, but the character sketches give the story a solid permanence in good literature."

Jerry Geisler, among the most noted of courtroom warriors, thinks Gardner was destined to be one of the greatest trial lawyers in the country. Now he wages his legal battles through Perry Mason and Doug. Selby.

Two California ranches provide an ideal spot for Gardner to live. One is modern, comfortable and popular with guests. When he is trying to write and can't because of distractions, he heads for his 1,400-acre ranch on the backbone of the Coast Range. There he has his own private canyons, sky and mountains.

Gardner is an excellent cowboy who likes to herd cattle, a "softy" where all animals are concerned, and an outstanding archer. At 58, he remains in excellent physical condition.

Current Reviews

"Table in the Wilderness," by Norton S. Parker. Ambassador Books, Ltd., Toronto, $3.50.

The famous Old Testament story of Joseph the Hebrew shepherd boy who was sold into slavery by his jealous brothers and eventually came to govern all Egypt has been given a popular treatment in this rather lengthy novel.

By no means as profound a book as that of Thomas Mann's on the same subject, "Table in the Wilderness," while lacking in many respects, is highly imaginative and extremely readable.

Joseph, as portrayed by Mr. Parker, is a rather straight-laced serious young man with a vision, who holds himself aloof from the earthly pleasures and sins of the great Egyptian Empire to his eventual success over the spirits of wickedness.

The love story falls down badly, and is a weak point in an otherwise commendable novel, with Marta, a former slave girl and Joseph's girl friend, failing to achieve any resemblance to reality. Some of the other characters, however, do better.

One of the best parts in the story is a purposely-suggested comparison of life, love and politics four thousand years ago, when despots, taxes and intrigue ran as rife as in contemporary life. In this lies the theme of the novel which points out that modern civilization for all its advance, hasn't progressed very far.—J. O'C.

"Montgomery," by Alan Moorehead; Musson Book Company, Ltd. ($3.50).

Field Marshal Montgomery is not the kind of man to be merely tolerated; he is either loved or hated, admired or scorned. . . . And quite obviously Alan Moorehead, his first biographer, is one who loves and admires him. Nevertheless Moorehead, a competent and experienced war correspondent who closely studied the campaigns Montgomery commanded and did some fairly deep research into the man's background, has not come out with the extravagant panegyric one might have expected as an answer to the field marshal's critics.

True enough he does prove, conclusively in the opinion of this reviewer, that Montgomery is just as great a general as any this war produced, if not the greatest. But in trying to say why this is so the author has had to go into the complexities of Montgomery's character and its development since childhood and he doesn't seek to hide the fact that the man in the black beret is vain, domineering, and at times ruthless.

MAIN THEME IS VANITY

But the vanity—and this is the main theme running through the book—is an honest vanity. Montgomery knows that when he led the football team, the team won; when he led a local action in the Great War, his side won. These considerations, over-simplified here, of course, but affirmed in his own mind through every phase of his mental and psychological development, imbued him with a colossal reliance on his own ability and judgment. He knew—not thought, but knew in his own mind—that if he led a campaign it would reach a successful conclusion just as he planned it. "To his opponents," writes the author, speaking of the difficult and controversial days of the Northwest European campaign, "he seemed to be forever growling vainly out of his lair: 'Have done. Away with these arguments. There is only one way to settle the war and that is to let me finish it for you.'" It was this self-confident knowledge of himself that made him seek command, and having got it, made him ruthless and domineering in its execution.

TWO PRINCIPLES DISTINGUISHED MAN

Montgomery employed two principles which distinguished him from other commanders and which were an expression of this aspect of his character. The first was that once committed to a plan of battle, that plan should not be altered. To make the enemy fight according to a prearranged plan was the man's gospel—and the inter-Allied strife after the Normandy landing was only an expression of his determination to practise it when others would have been moved by momentary pressures to play into enemy hands by altering their tactics. The second of his principles was that team play and morale are as important as guns and the plan. Most of his flamboyance and eccentricity were expressions of that.

"What," Montgomery once asked in the course of a lecture, "did Moses, Cromwell and Napoleon (the three commanders of the past he most admires) have in common?" His answer told his own story: Supreme confidence in themselves and the ability to pass on this confidence.—D.T.

"The Turn of the Road," by "Bartimeus." Oxford University Press, Toronto, $2.25.

This is the first hand record of the part played by the Royal Navy and the British Merchant Marine in the Allied landing in North Africa, and its sequel from November, 1942, until May, 1943, when success of the venture was in sight.

Narrative of the story is divided into 11 parts, including official statistics and records, brightened here and there by stories of individual ships and men and their part in the operation.

Included in the book are some very fine admiralty charts of the landing, along with other data, and for those interested in the navy and its part in the World War, this is a very comprehensive work on one phase of it.—J.O'C.

"Towards the Conversion of England," J. M. Dent & Sons (Canada), Ltd., Toronto, $1.

This is a report of a commission on evangelism appointed by the Archbishops of Canterbury and York in 1943. In a preface the Primate of Canada, Most Rev. D. T. Owen, describes it as a courageous attempt to face the root difficulties of Christian evangelism in the face of the modern state of mind.

The commission composed a number of distinguished Anglicans, both clergy and laity, and its findings are of importance not only to those of that denomination but to all leaders and teachers in the Christian cause.

"Picture Primer of Indoor Gardening," by Margaret O. Goldsmith and Harrie Wood. Thomas Allen, Limited, Toronto, $2.

If you are interested in having plants inside your home instead of outside, this beautifully illustrated book will show you how to look after them. It includes hints on potting, shifting and protecting plants of all kinds, as well as valuable suggestions on arrangement and growth.

Charts and codes are given with lists of plants suited to domestic conditions. Whether you want to build a jungle garden on a table, frame a window in ivy, or raise oxalis in a bird cage this little book will point the way. Even if you have the "green" fingers that seem to bless all plants this primer will be invaluable to you.

Here are the ABC's of house plant lore to guide you.

Glimmer and Shimmer — Hollywood

The "Wee Bit House 'Mang the Heather" may again become the country's No. 1 residence if Sir Harry Lauder, the great Scottish singer and comedian, makes one last farewell tour.

Sir Harry, now retired in Scotland at the age of 76, has already made several returns to his world of admirers but the call of the footlights and cheering audiences dies hard and the great man is champing at the bit. His United States agents are urging him on.

Behind the scenes now in Hollywood, a quiet revolution is going on as the men who make the movies are trying their best, not only to answer the casual critics who call for more intelligent movies, but also to live up to the responsibility of having in their hands a large-size molder of public opinion.

Eric Johnston, president of the movies' self-imposed production code administration, has been meeting studio executives and top writers and directors to tell them his impressions of world reaction to the Hollywood product gained on his travels.

Here are some of his blunt statements to the movie makers:

"Rural America is dry and becoming drier. Most of the people of this country do not drink nor do they countenance casual drinking on the screen. Movies which stress drinking scenes are an affront to them."

Gangster films which show criminals as other than vicious enemies of society seriously lower prestige abroad. Such movies also stimulate juvenile delinquency.

The industry's ten pictures which have grossed more than $7,500,000 have all been clean pictures and any studio which turns out a crude film "will reap the whirlwind."

Johnston has great influence with the movies and has found them open to his suggestions. His plan is that the studios should work along the lines North American newspapers did in wartime when voluntary censorship was set up.

Sylvia Fine (Mrs. Danny Kaye) is well started on her autobiography, "Seven Years" in a Pressure Cooker," the story of her life with Danny.

The book should be an event since Mrs. Kaye is responsible on the writing end for most of the side-splitting songs Danny warbles.

Larry Parks, Columbia star, recently nominated for an Academy Award for his performance in "The Jolson Story," will make a personal appearance in "Her Husband's Affairs." He will do a gag walk-on as a movie star.

Orson Welles suffered a badly sprained ankle and a bruised forehead during filming of one of the final scenes of "The Lady from Shanghai," in which he co-stars with Rita Hayworth.

The strangest "prop" of the year—a glass head—goes before the cameras for the first time on the shoulders of character actor Jonathan Hale.

To mark the 30th anniversary of Tarzan's debut on the screen, the most pretentious production in the history of the Edgar Rice Burroughs' character is now being planned.

Johnny Weismuller will play his customary role as the hero.

The first Tarzan picture, starring Elmo Lincoln, was made in 1918.

BOOST HERRING CATCH

LONDON (CP)—A fleet of modern trawlers will increase Britain's herring catch to about 3,000,000 crans. Approximately 450,000 crans of herrings, bloaters, kippers and red herrings will be for home consumption while the remainder will be for exports and for manufacture of herring oil.

The Garden Column

Good Medicine

Dr. Frank G. Boudreau, chairman of the food and nutrition board, United States National Research Council, told the National Garden Conference recently that growing a home vegetable garden and eating the vegetables would do "more to keep a woman looking young and beautiful than all the beauty shops of America." He stressed the fact that this was strictly a modern idea, [illegible] which had astonished the nutrition experts.

"It is a great surprise to discover the remarkable dietary qualities of the leaves of plants," he stated. "They constitute complete foods, rich in actively functioning cells, which contain everything necessary for the metabolic process. They supply all the nutriment an animal requires. The liberal use of the protective foods, among which vegetables and fruits rank high, tends to preserve the characteristics of youth.

"Growing, in addition to the healthful leaven the consumption of fresh vegetables introduces into the body, provides splendid exercise in the open air and is a remedy for many ills, particularly for men and women who lead sedentary lives. Garden cultivation means recreation for the mind as well as the body."

Lawn Growing

One can hardly do lawn work too early, states Gordon Lindsay Smith of Canadian Garden Service. Grass seed loves cool weather as does the grass itself. If it doesn't get it, start while there is plenty of moisture in the ground you will not get best results. So just as soon as the soil is fit to work, as soon as one can do this without getting one's shoes muddy, it is time to plant new lawns or repair old ones. Soil should be worked as fine and level as possible. It is much easier to get a lawn level before the grass is sown than afterwards. With new lawns it will be necessary to work up thoroughly, then roll or allow to settle and work again. Not only does this preliminary cultivation tend to get the ground level but it also kills the weeds.

Good seed with lawns is vitally important. Select a day with as little wind as possible to sow the grass seed, and sow it both across and lengthwise. Sow plenty of seed and fertilize. This combats weeds. This well-fed grass will crowd out weeds. For those that will not be crowded out, spud out or spray with 2-4-D which kills dandelions, chicory, plaintain, etc., with little injury to clover and none at all to grass.

Good Cultivation

Garden plots should be thoroughly dug up or ploughed. Both methods turn in rotten vegetable material, manure, etc. Working the soil mixes top and intermediate sub-soil and tends to distribute more evenly natural fertility. All dead vegetation should be dug into the soil. The new gardener is generally inclined to burn all rubbish. This is a serious mistake. Anything that will rot in a reasonable time, and there will be few things that will not, should be dug in. Such practice improves both light and heavy soils, opening the latter and making it less liable to bake and cake, and adding much needed water-retaining humus to sandy and light soil. Just before seed is sown in any ground, experts advocate a thorough raking or cultivation to make seed bed as fine and level as possible. This is especially necessary with fine seeded flowers and vegetables.

Sweet Pea Planting

Planting sweet peas is an early job. These are best sown in a foot-deep trench into which has first been put about three or four inches of well-rotted manure or leaves firmly pressed down and a little fine soil on top. Gradually the trench will fill in and a deep drought-resistant root growth is developed. Later on, some brush or strings should be provided for support. Frequent picking of flowers will assure long blooming.

Primulas

Primulas generally arouse admiration. They are readily grown and offer much beauty. They bloom hereabouts profusely in March, sometimes earlier according to location; and while the most favorable time for sowing primulas seeds is August or September sowings in March are often quite successful. Seeds of primulas germinate rapidly when sown in a flat of soil well mixed with leaf mould and sand. Seed sowing and transplanting should be carried out when soil conditions are favorable.

Batchelor's Button

There are few blooms so blue as batchelor's button. It is a hardy annual of easy culture, states James H. Burdett, of National Garden Service. They respond to good, rich soil, cultivation and watering. There are both single and double varieties in white, rose, pink, purple and blue, the latter variety being especially valuable because true blue is rare among flowers. Seeds can be sown in late Fall or early Spring. Sowing in open ground is preferable to starting in the house.

Amos 'n' Andy were 19 years old recently.

They were born in an elevator in 1928, while Freeman Gosden and Charles Correll were riding up to the studios of WMAQ Chicago to start a new program series.

"I'll be Amos," said Gosden.

"Okay," replied Correll, "I'll take Andy for mine."

What followed has written a brilliant page in radio history—the page is still being written.

Special programs to mark Holy Week have been arranged by producer Alan Thompson for his three late evening recorded broadcasts from Vancouver.

Today, Palm Sunday, listeners will hear Parts two and three of The Messiah by Handel performed by the Royal Choral Society and the London Philharmonic Orchestra, conducted by Sir Thomas Beecham.

The broadcast will begin at 10:30 p.m.

Excerpts from Wagner's music-drama Parsifal will be presented on Opera Time Tuesday at 11 p.m. and on Thursday at the same time.

The time used is Pacific standard for the 120th Meridian, west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

To find the depth of water on the sill at the Esquimalt Drydock at any time, add 29.8 feet to the height of high water as above given.

Finance—Commerce—Markets

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, March 29 (AP).—Stocks generally edged downward today but dealings were the slowest of the past six months, for the second straight week, the market averages held a modest net advance.

While the list was on the offside in four sessions out of six, the Wednesday-Thursday bulge put the balance on the side of recovery. The midweek rumup was credited partly to strong bullish advices put out by a leading commission house and belief of some that the market was in technical shape for a resumption of the climb. On the other hand, skeptics regarding labor, wildly fluctuating commodities, business, taxes and foreign affairs continued to lighten accounts.

For the day declines were mostly fractional, although U.S. Gypsum yielded 1 1-4 at 102 and Eastman Kodak 1 at 240. Recessions were shown for Bethlehem, Republic Steel, General Motors, Goodyear, American Telephone, Kennecott, Westinghouse, Santa Fe N.Y. Central and Southern Pacific.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off .1 of a point at 65.7 but on the week retained a net gain of .5.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	2 N.T.	Pass
3 N.T.	Pass	4 N.T.	Pass
Pass	Pass

Since North-South were not doing any slam convention, North was privileged to pass South's four no trump and did so with alacrity, but the damage had already been done. South made only four spade tricks, two hearts, two diamonds and one club, which was just one tantalizing trick short of his four no trump contract.

No expert would be guilty of making the two bids that South made. Taken together, they constituted an out and out "trap" on South's own partner. Observe: If North passed South's two no trump bid, he would be losing a game at three no trump; if he raised to that game, he would still lose it because South was determined to go just one trick further.

It is worth observing that even if every important card had been right and South had been able to run the spade suit without loss and make both of his club honors through finding the ace on side, 11 tricks still would have been the limit of the combined hands. Hence it is easy to see that South risked the sure game at three no trump for an impossible slam.

The great fault with South's bidding was that he underbid a full trick at his first turn and then made a futile effort to straighten out matters. South's proper response was not two, but three, no trump, which, of course, North would pass. Having made this bid, that really represented his holding. South would not have to worry about the future course of bidding.

First Prime Minister ...and First President of the Manufacturers Life

ONE of the Fathers of Confederation — first Prime Minister of the Dominion of Canada — the Rt. Hon. Sir John A. Macdonald was the first President of the Manufacturers Life.

The judgment of time has confirmed his right to be revered as one of the great Canadians. His foresight is evident in the very fabric of the Dominion's economic and political life.

The life insurance company he helped to found has proved worthy of him. The Manufacturers Life has made a continuous and ever-growing contribution to the nation's welfare.

Since its incorporation, the Manufacturers Life has paid over $340 million to three generations of policyholders and beneficiaries.

Little Stories for Bedtime

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS

PETER BECOMES ACQUAINTED WITH REDPOLL

"I suppose," said Peter Rabbit to the little red-capped stranger he had discovered in the weedy field, "that you also are from the Far North. I am just beginning to learn that there are more folks who make their home in the Far North than I had dreamed of. I don't believe I know you at all."

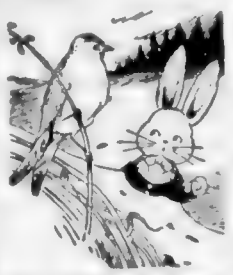
"I'm Redpoll," was the prompt response. "I am called that because of my red cap. Yes indeed, I make my home in the Far North. There is no place like it. You really ought to run up there and get acquainted with the folks who made their homes there and love it."

Redpoll laughed at his own joke, but Peter didn't see the joke at all. "Is it so very far?" he asked innocently, then added, "I'd dearly love to go."

Redpoll laughed harder than ever. "Yes," said he, "it is. I am afraid you would be a very old and grey Rabbit by the time you got there. I guess the next best thing is for you to make the acquaintance of those of us who get down here once in a while."

Redpoll called softly and at once was joined by another red-capped bird, but without the pink breast and with sides heavily streaked. "This is Mrs. Redpoll," announced her lively little mate. Then he turned to her and added, "I've just been telling Peter Rabbit that as long as he cannot visit our beautiful Far North he must become acquainted with those of us who come down here in the Winter. I'm sure he'll find us very friendly folks."

"I'm sure I shall," said Peter. "If you please, do you live altogether on these seeds?"



"I'm Redpoll," was the prompt response

Redpoll laughed his usual happy laugh. "Hardly, Peter," said he. "We like the seeds of the birches and the alders and we eat the seeds of the evergreen trees when we can get them. Sometimes we find them in cones. Snipper the Crossbill has opened, but not picked all the seeds out of. There are some of our relatives over there and we must join them. We will see you again, Peter."

Peter watched the Redpolls fly over to join their friends. Suddenly, as if a signal had been given, all flew at the same instant to a birch tree not far away. There they sat for a minute or two, and then just as if another signal had been given all began to pick out the tiny seeds from the birch tassels. No one bird seemed to be first. It was quite like a drill or as if each had thought of the same thing at the same instant. Peter chuckled over it all the way home.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

CUT THAT OUT—
The West in Our Speech

The expression "cut out" is employed as a noun for a hole in the ground and for a cardboard pattern cut out with scissors. Both of these are literal and give the inquiring mind no trouble. It may have occurred to the reader, however, that the constant use of "cut that out" as it occurs in our speech is metaphorical and suggests the question of how it started.

This phrase does have a specific source which is of special interest as an Americanism. It comes to us from our great West by way of the vocabulary of the ranches and the cowboy.

In the delightful story, "Snow Above Town," by Donald Hough, in which the author tells about life on a western cattle ranch, there is a detailed description of how cattle are brought from the range for marketing, and of "the cutting out" which indicates the significance of this expression as an item of American lore.

"After dinner we start the cutting out. This is the cowboy's most expert work with his horse, so all I could do was watch.

"The steers that are prime for the market must be separated and later taken to the railroad; cows, calves and steers that are not prime are to be moved to Winter feed lots and held over for another year. The cowboys take stations around the rim of the herd. Frank spots an animal he wants and slowly worms his horse into a position directly behind the cutback. Now commences one of those tricks of the trade that look easy but aren't. (Cutting out).

"The horse gets on the tail of the animal, and slowly that steer is manoeuvred out of the mass toward the rim of the tightly packed herd. The steer doesn't realize what is going on until he is near the rim; then he tries to double back among his fellows. Instantly the horse leaps forward, the steer dodges, the horse cuts him off as both swerve; then with a final flash the bewildered animal is driven into the clear. There the nearest cowboy spurs his horse and scoots the steer down the field to form the nucleus of the cut-back herd. It takes these seasoned cowboys only about as long to do this as it does to tell about it."

A literal cutting-out—from the herd—a technique of the American cattle ranch. And for the expression in American literature we find as far back as 1907, in that classic "Western," the "Bar Twenty."

"In this contest Mopalong Cassidy led his nearest rival, Red Connors, by twenty cut-outs."

KAMLOOPS, B.C. March 29 (CP) Kamloops Kilowatts tonight won the Senior B basketball championship of British Columbia defeating Port Alberni Athletics 44-40 on the two-game total-point series. Last night Kamloops won 37-36.

Person, although handicapped by an ankle injury suffered in the closing minutes of last night's game, led the Port Alberni attack tonight, tossing 11 points. Other Port Alberni scorers were Hodgson 4, Forrest 4, Heitman 5, Mosher 2 and Kendall 4.

Austin Webster led the Kamloops mark-men, sharing 12 tallies. Bill Elms got 10, Art Barton 9, Sandy Hay 5, Harold Foulger 5 and Hal Person 3.

Yankees Ship New Hurler; Buccola Fails

Number of pitchers who will attempt to win a place on Victoria Athletics' staff was increased to 11 yesterday with the announcement by Business Manager Reg Patterson that John Judge Wilkinson, 24-year-old ex-serviceman, had been assigned here by the New York Yankees.

A former American Legion player, Wilkinson signed with Salem in 1941 but the war interrupted his baseball career. He saw action in the Pacific theatre in the air force and did considerable pitching in the services. He is right-handed, six feet one inch tall, weighs 180 pounds and was signed by Scout Sylvester Johnson.

Athletics opened their training season Friday but word yesterday from Manager Ted Norbert revealed that heavy rain had stopped any workouts although it was hoped that the players would get some road-work in yesterday afternoon.

Other W.I.B.L. news reveals that Vic Buccola, Victoria's fancy-dan first baseman who was sold to Pittsburgh by Oakland, has been sold back to the Angels by the Pirates, leaving in a bid to jump to the majors.

It is also revealed that Salem will again have a top-notch club this year and will have to be considered a definite pennant threat. Returning to the Senators are ten regulars from last season's club and all should be improved with an added years experience. They are Vern Reynolds, Dick Wenner, Hal Summers, Lou Kubiak, Wally Flager, Hank Luchessi, Ted Kerr, Hank Bartolomei, Paul Soderburg and Ken Wyatt.

Seattle Juvenile Soccer Elevens Divide Fixtures

Seattle junior soccer squads split two games with Victoria juvenile contingents at Heywood Avenue yesterday. Seattle Lake City squad triumphed in the first of the interesting double-header by shutting out North Ward Division Four team 3-0.

The visitors showed improved form over the last meeting between the two teams in the Sound City, while the local youngsters failed to make use of many scoring opportunities. D Pickett and A Sleister scored for Lake City in the first half while G Geers was the marksman in the second half.

Heavyweight local Division Two team won a 2-0 decision over Seattle Skyway Park holding the upper hand throughout. A larger score was prevented only by the sensational work of Odella Jacobsen in the Seattle nets. The Seattle eleven showed plenty of speed but lacked scoring punch. Jack Robbins, youngest of the well-known soccer family, scored both goals for Hennessy, each coming in the second half.

After the game members of the Lake City team paid a visit to Ronnie Lucas, sick member of the North Ward team at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Through arrangements made by Herb Wetherell, North Ward manager, the Seattle teams, accompanied by local juveniles, will journey to Duncan for two games today against Fairbridge and Native Sons in connection with a soccer day being held there by the Duncan Kinsmen club.

Camera Record of "L'Affaire MacPhail"

THE current baseball between Larry MacPhail president of the New York Yankees on one side and Leo Durocher and Branch Rickey, manager and president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, is believed to stem from this "incident" photographed at the exhibition game between the Yanks and the Dodgers in Havana, Cuba. Durocher and Rickey charge that MacPhail "embarrassed two known gamblers" in the box. MacPhail denies that the gamblers in question were his guests, insisting that occupied a separate box, divided from his by an aisle. Shown in the photo are MacPhail (wearing sun glasses) to the right of a partially hidden by MacPhail's head is Memphis Engleberg, and at extreme right over sharp corner of dugout is Connie Immerman. MacPhail has brought charges against Durocher Rickey and Dodger Secretary Harold Parrott before Baseball Commissioner A. B. Happy Chandler, pleading that their statements about him are detrimental to the best interests of baseball. Sitting at the back of the dugout in the picture directly below MacPhail is Yankee Manager Stanley Harris.

Caughoo, 100-1 Shot, Wins Grand National

AINTREE, England, March 29 (AP) A 100-to-1 Irish outsider, eight-year-old Caughoo, dropped "out of the clouds" in the rain and mud of Aintree's fierce jumping course today to come from far back and win the 104th running of the Grand National Steeplechase by 20 lengths.

Overhauling the faltering leaders and favorites only in the final half dozen of the 30 jumps over this toughest race course in the world, the gelded son of Within-the-Law came surging up to the gold and glory of this century-and-a-quarter classic but in the slowest time in half a century, 10-31 1-5.

His nearest rival at the wire was the Irish-bred 33-to-1 dark horse Lough Conn who led most of the way around until Caughoo turned [illegible] by battling keg in the run[illegible] 6 1/2 [illegible] yard. Then came the French hope Kami only recently sold to Sir Alan Gordon-Smith.

In fourth place and out of the money was the mighty Prince Regent, a severe shock to the thousand who had backed him in favorite role at 8 to 1 and the hundreds of more throughout the crowd who held tickets on him in the Irish Hospital Sweepstakes and already were dreaming of the rainbow's end.

It was a great day for the bookmakers. Few, if any, bettors had hooked up Caughoo in the Spring double with the 100-to-1 shot Jockey Treble, who won the Lincolnshire Mile on Wednesday. Those who did have a celebration at $3o-$98 for a 4o-cent bet. But the vigilant bookies pocketed the thousands of bets on favored pairs.

For the second straight year, it was a bitter disappointment for Irish Conn. Mr. M. Rowe's ten-year-old Irish leaper. A year ago he led all the way around the first time and part of the second, then fell over Becher's Brook a 15-foot wide water jump topped by a fence. This year he once more took the lead from the break only to be overhauled in the final run to the wire.

Meantime, young Dempsey kept Caughoo, light-weighted under 140 pounds and out of the money in his last two starts, well placed, but not close up with the leaders. Then, with the finish looming up out of the mist, he gave the Irish husky the word, and Caughoo took charge.

Owner J. J. McDowell revealed he had bought the eight-year-old for a mere £50 ($200) as an unbroken juvenile six years ago. Today's Grand National triumph topped off a career which already has seen Caughoo capture two Ulster Grand Nationals.

Man o' War Now 30

LEXINGTON, Ky., March 29 (AP) Man o' War munched his birthday carrots with the gusto of a yearling today, showing form teeth that couldn't possibly betray his 30 years.

For the sake of sentiment, a simple horseshoe of flowers was draped on Big Red's stall in the only observance of his birthday. The rest of the day at Samuel D. Riddle's Faraway Farm was routine for him.

Riddle has owned Big Red since he was a yearling, having bought him for $5,000 from the late August Belmont.

St. Louis College Holds Ring Show

Before a packed house of parents and friends Coach Lenny Callaghan's St. Louis College Boxing Club put on a fistic show of 11 keenly-contested bouts. All bouts were between club members except one in which Jerry Gradson of James Bay opposed Don Fitzpatrick of St. Louis. Bouts were refereed by Jimmy Young, James Bay coach.

As a special feature Caslar and Jack O'Neil staged an exhibition bout of an instructional nature.

The St. Louis College club will close its season on April 11, when they oppose the Briscoe Memorial School in an interclub show at Kent, Washington.

Youngsters taking part in the non-decision bouts were as follows: Joe MacDonald vs. Mickey Cassidy; Don Fitzpatrick vs. Jerry Gradson (James Bay); Dave Clarkson vs. Johnnie Featherstone; Dennis Wentzenrode vs. Jack Bate; Joe Dobbie vs. Fred Dunn; Ron Morton vs. Ron MacDonald; Bi. Rogers vs. Dennis Hendricks; Phillip Pilkington vs. Leon Gimondi; Ray Be vs. Pat Carey; Peter Ann vs. David Ross; John [illegible] vs. John Clarkson.

'Birds Win Final Game Over Bears

VANCOUVER, B.C. March 29 (CP) A second-half rally brought an 11-6 victory to the U.B.C. Thunderbirds over the California Bears here today in the fourth and final game of a home-and-home series of the World Cup play, emblematic of coastal collegiate Rugby supremacy. The teams played to a 3-3 tie Friday.

In two earlier contests in California, the Bears won the first game 24-21 and the Birds the second 20-8.

The Californians today went ahead 6-0 early in the first half on a penalty kick by Harry Wright and a try by Cec. Callender but the Thunderbird managed to get within three points of a tie late in the session when Geoff Gee broke over the line after a set scrum.

Play was through the second half, the Varsity boys wrapped the game up on a lead that never was equalled, on tries by Marshall Sinclair, Cec. Callender, Bruce Morris and Don Nelson, netting the last for a conversion.

Show Interest In Sid Thomas Memorial Cup

Victoria sport fans are showing a keen interest in the awarding of the Sid Thomas Memorial Trophy, which will go to the outstanding Victoria athlete in the just-completed 1946-47 sports seasons.

Presented by Brock Whitney to perpetuate the memory of the former sports editor of The Daily Colonist, the trophy award will become an annual event. Each year's winner will receive the trophy for one year, a replica to keep and a suitably engraved wrist watch from The Daily Colonist.

Fans are being asked to make their nominations by letter to the sports editor of The Colonist, listing the reasons for their choice. Final selection of the winning athlete will be made by a committee of four well-known sportsmen and The Colonist sports editor.

To the person writing what is adjudged the best letter (not necessarily naming the winning athlete) will get two season's box seats to all home games of the Victoria Athletics.

Any Colonist reader is eligible to make a nomination, letter must be postmarked not later than May 1. Any amateur Victoria athlete, regardless of sex or age, will be eligible for the award, which will be made each year following the end of the Winter sports season in order to give full consideration to the various sports whose seasons overlap the calendar years.

Game Club to Meet

Regular meeting of the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association will be held at the Boilermakers' Hall on Tuesday at 8 p.m. Besides general business several reels of movies will be shown.

Dodds Runs Fast Mile

CHICAGO, March 29 (AP) Gil Dodds, the flying parson, tonight ran the fastest mile of the indoor track season, a 4:06.8 performance which fell short by only four-tenths of a second of matching his accepted American mark set in the Chicago relays same Bankers' mile in 1944.

Oak Bay, Thistles in 1-1 Draw

Scottish Thistles and Oak Bay eleven drew for the fourth time this season, when they battled to a 1-1 stalemate in a close rugged contest at Royal Athletic Park yesterday for the Lower Island intermediate soccer title. The game will be replayed on Tuesday at the same park at 5:30 p.m.

Both goals came in the first half of the evenly-contested match. Smith crossed from the wing to Centre Forward Stan Wiseman who whipped the ball past Goalie Richards for the Thistles tally. Oak Bay's Jack Thompson got his noggin on a long free kick to score neatly for the lying counter.

Both sides missed several scoring chances during the speedy, wide-ranging play that followed. In the second half both Knight and Smith, of Thistles, forced Richards to make great saves. Teams lined towards the end with the results the brand of ball demonstrated and minor injuries were frequent.

Goalies Richards and Patterson played smart games while Sid Robbins, brother of the well-known senior players, was a tower of strength at centre half for Thistles.

Cambridge Wins Rowing Classic

LONDON, March 29 (Reuters) — Cambridge University defeated the heavily-favored Oxford University eight in the boat race today.

Cambridge took the lead at the start and steadily increased its advantage over the 4¼-mile Thames River course here.

The winning Light Blue, passed the finishing line about ten lengths ahead of Oxford in the slow time of 23 minutes and one second to win the 93rd renewal of the classic collegiate event. The victory marked the 49th time Cambridge had come in ahead compared to 43 triumphs for Oxford.

The race was interrupted by the war, but when it was resumed last year Oxford won. The event started in 1829 when Cambridge challenged Oxford.

Dynamiters Triumph

EDMONTON, March 29 (CP) The Kimberly Dynamiters tonight defeated the Calgary Stampeders 3-2 to move into a 2-1 lead in the best-of-seven Allen Cup semi-final series.

Both goals tallied early in the opening period and then [illegible] one each in the second, with the Dynamiters losing the only goal of the final stanza to edge out a hard-fought victory.

Bill Cavanagh sparked the Dynamiters with two goals and Pete Clement scored the other. Gordon Brownridge scored both Stampeders' goals.

Car Owners Should Know

that your steering alignment should be checked every 5,000 miles. As the various parts wear with use the wheels move out of alignment, thereby creating excessive wear on your tires and a dangerous driving condition. It is therefore to your advantage to have these angles corrected.

that driving your car against the curb, or hitting a bone in the road can put your wheels out of alignment.

that after the installation of any new parts in the front-end such as king-pins, control arm bushings or tie-rod ends the steering alignment should be checked and corrected and the steering box adjusted. If this is not done it is highly probable that the caster, camber and toe-in will be wrong causing harder driving and excessive wear on your tires.

The majority of garages and service stations are not equipped to carry out this job as special equipment is required. This is specially true in the case of some of the newer cars where it is impossible to replace front-end parts without this equipment. Therefore when the average garage or service station does this work, no charge is made for alignment and it is axiomatic that the car is in a possible dangerous driving condition when released to the customer. The owner should insist on having the caster, camber and toe in checked with the proper equipment.

Mooney Body Shop at 814 Cormorant Street has the highly trained personnel and the necessary equipment to replace [illegible] parts and to carry out the very necessary job of realignment. All jobs are guaranteed as estimated and no job is too large or too small.

CUT DOWN ON TAKING LAXATIVES THIS WAY

See How Regular You Can Be Every Morning

Try taking Carter's Pills this way: Start with 3 and set a definite time every morning. When you get regular every morning cut down to 2. After a few days, try 1.

Then try taking Carter's every other day. You may even find you can keep regular without any laxative.

You see, Carter's are so tiny you can cut down the dose—from 3 to 1—to fit the needs of your individual system. Without disappointment.

Carter's help clean out your intestinal tract not half way, but thoroughly. They are doubly effective because made with two vegetable herbs compounded properly for thorough, easy action.

Thousands can cut down on laxative dosing this Carter way. Ask for Carter's Pills by name to get the genuine at any drugstore—35¢, 70¢, $1.00. Start the Carter graduated dose method tonight, and jump out of bed tomorrow rarin' to go.

Canada's Importance To Tourists Shown

Canada's growing importance in the tourist industry of the Western Hemisphere was noted in a recent bulletin of the United States Department of Commerce.

"The report stated: "Evidence that foreign countries are stepping up their tourist dollar competition is found in a survey just completed by the Department of Commerce.

"According to this study, Canada, Mexico, and the Caribbean—to the value of 430,000,000 American dollars—were favorite foreign attractions for United States tourists during 1946."

Easter Service Will Be Held At Beacon Hill

Beacon Hill Park will be the scene of the fourth annual Sunrise Service of the Victoria Camp of the Gideons on Easter Sunday.

Commencing at 7:45 a.m., the service will be held in the same location as last year, on the high rocky ground just east of the roadway which enters Beacon Hill Park from the corner of Douglas and Michigan Streets at South Park School.

So that persons wishing to stay in their cars may do so, the whole service will be carried over a loud-speaker system. Parking space will be available on both Douglas and Rupert Streets.

Col. Arthur Hopkins, S.A., San Francisco, will deliver the Easter message, and music will be supplied by the Salvation Army Band under Bandmaster Max Chalk, with Major Fred Howlett as song leader. Cornet soloist will be Will Hastings, and numbers will be contributed by the Ladies' Gospel Quartette and the Ambassadors' Male Quartette. J. Ingram Smith will be the accompanist.

Attendance So Great at Exhibition Junior Chamber Plans Annual Event

One of the greatest activities of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce—the B.C. Products Fair—came to a successful conclusion last night at the Bay Street Armoury.

Percy Frampton, chairman of the committee in charge of the event, estimates more than 12,000 persons saw the two-day exhibition of goods manufactured or produced in this province. So popular was the show, and so [illegible] and interest, the Junior Chamber of Commerce now plans to make the event an annual thing.

All proceeds of the fair will go to the Queen Alexandra Solarium.

More than 100 firms and industrial businesses of Victoria and the Mainland entered exhibits in the show. Mr. Frampton and Mayor Percy E. George were main speakers at the show last night. They dealt with the future of industry in British Columbia, and the importance of youth remaining in the province.

The products fair was officially opened Friday night by Hon. Leslie H. Eyres, Provincial Minister of Trade and Industry. Quiz contests, based on British Columbia products on display, highlighted the entertainment program of the show. Cash, door and merchandise prizes were distributed.

Both Mr. Frampton and Fred Norris, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, praised the Greater Victoria School Board, which made it possible for about 4,000 students to visit the products display at a special session Friday afternoon.

HUGE CRANE LOADS CHEMAINUS LUMBER

Photograph shows a huge moving crane loading lumber on Ss. Harmac at the Chemainus plant of the Victoria Lumber Co., Ltd. The sawmill has one of the largest sheds in Canada for the storage of kiln-dried lumber. It is 1,000 feet long, 130 feet wide, and 78 feet high. Railway tracks run full length of building.

Qualicum Beach Enjoys Concert By Boys' School

QUALICUM BEACH, March 29.—Qualicum Beach Boys' School annual concert was a popular event in Community Hall. The following program was given:

"Canoe Song," "The Mermaid" and "The Spring," the junior choir; Greig waltz and Boccherini minuet, piano solos by Thomas Loft; "Spinning Song" and "At the Camp Fire," piano solos by Alastair McPherson; "The Name Is Johnston," a comedy directed by Rev. W. Buckingham, with a cast including J. S. Knox, W. R. Stewart, D. E. Thulin, A. W. Hughes and M. C. McEwen; "La Fileuse," "Etude in B Minor," and "Prelude in Fugue in D Minor," piano solos by G. H. Knight.

R. I. Knight and G. Knight directed an abridged version of "The Pirates of Penzance." Actors included: R. I. Knight, A. de C. Denny, George Strathdee, Frank Leigh, Ian Buckingham, Arthur Hughes, Michael Grier, Derry Simpson, Thomas Lofft, Stephen Daggett, Alastair McPherson, David Groves, William Groves, Bruce Campbell, Ian Bentum, John Knox, David Daggett, Michael Parsons, Robert McQuinn, Marshall Scoular, Dennis Thulin, William Stewart, Malcolm McEwan, Gordon Devereaux, Harold Brownson, Edward Arnet and Arthur Bartlett. Scenery was painted by Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Butler.

Alderman Named Board President

PORT ALBERNI.—Alderman Lorsan Jordan has been re-elected president of the West Coast General Hospital board.

Vice-president is A. Douglas McNicol and Harvey E. Taylor was reappointed secretary-treasurer.

The hospital has operated at a surplus for the first two months of the year and there has been a reduction of approximately $800 in the bank overdraft.

At a recent meeting citizens voted to organize a campaign to raise $250,000 toward the construction of a new hospital.

Port Alberni Church Will Be Dedicated

PORT ALBERNI.—Dedication of Port Alberni's new Baptist Church will take place on Wednesday, April 2, when the visiting minister, who will preach the dedication ceremony, will be Dr. J. L. Sloat, of Vancouver.

All Easter services will be held in the new church, which was built at a cost of $10,000.

Rev. W. W. Silverthorn is the pastor.

New Name for Store

DUNCAN, March 29. — Name of Cowichan Merchants, Ltd., has been changed to David Spencer (Duncan) Ltd. The store was opened in 1912, and purchased by D. Spencer, Ltd., in 1944. David Spencer, founder of the business bearing his name, was born at St. Athan, Glamorganshire, Wales, in 1837. He came to Victoria in 1862 and passed away in 1920.

Parents Present At Langford Club

LANGFORD, March 29. — Many parents were present at a recent meeting of the Teen Age Club at the Chez Marcel here. President Helen Cuche was appointed delegate to the Teen Town convention in Vancouver April 10 and 11.

Norma Dickie was elected publicity convenor, and a collection was taken for the Red Cross. Next meeting will be in the Chez Marcel Tuesday at 8 p.m., it was announced.

Pass Duncan By-Law

DUNCAN, March 29.—Voting on the public convenience by-law here on Thursday was light. The vote was 119 for, and only nine against. The by-law was submitted to permit the site to be changed from that approved in a previous by-law to a more convenient spot near the fire hall.

Egg From Cliffside Weighs Five Ounces

IF a grade "A" large egg weighs two ounces, what would one call a five-ounce egg?

Whatever one would call it, it's big enough for two large egg sandwiches.

Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Elford, Cliffside, brought six eggs to the editorial rooms of The Daily Colonist.

The six were equivalent in weight to one full dozen medium eggs. The largest weighed five ounces.

North Cowichan Debates Site For Plane Base

DUNCAN, March 29.—The North Cowichan council held a special meeting on Friday afternoon to deal with the delicate question of whether or not a seaplane base should be established on Quamichan Lake.

The proposed landing field is within the North Cowichan district, and the residents of the lake area are reported unanimous in opposing the project.

The council declared that they favored a landing field within the municipality, but preferred the location be left in the hands of the inspector of western airways.

The action taken follows closely that of the Duncan city council earlier in the week.

Heads Gyro Club At Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI. — Ernie G. Shorter was chosen president of the Alberni District Gyro Club at a recent meeting. First vice-president is Ray LeBrasseur; second vice-president, Cecil Raikes; secretary, W. J. Allen; assistant secretary, G. Crozier; treasurer, Gordon McInnes; directors, W. Mulcaster, John Perry, W. McDonald, F. W. Souther and Len Hambrook.

Installation will take place April 16 with international officers here for the ceremony.

Name Delegate At Ladysmith

LADYSMITH, March 29.—At a special meeting of the Graduate Nurses' Association at the home of the president, Mrs. A. Campbell, Mrs. J. Little was appointed delegate to the nurses' convention to be held at Vancouver on April 11 and 12.

Final arrangements for a bazaar and tea to be held in St. John's Hall on May 10 were made. Mrs. Campbell will act as general convener, and will be assisted by Mrs. E. Gregson, home cooking; Mrs. C. Bredenberg and Mrs. C. Wilkinson, afternoon tea; Mrs. S. Johns, table decorations; Mrs. M. Duncan and Mrs. J. Mitchell, novelty stall; Mrs. H. Steele, white elephant, and Mrs. J. Little, drawings.

A meeting of Vancouver Island District Registered Nurses' Association of British Columbia at Nanaimo on Friday was attended by Ladysmith delegates.

Sun Is Cause Of Minor Fire

DUNCAN, March 29.—Hot rays of the sun shining through an office window, and reflected on a heavy glass inkwell, caused a miniature fire here on Friday.

A letter and envelope on an official's desk burst into flames to his great astonishment. The fire was quickly subdued, but the half-burned letter and envelope remain as evidence of the unusual incident.

Saanich Trade Board

BRENTWOOD, March 29. — The monthly meeting of Saanich Board of Trade will be held in the Women's Institute Hall, Brentwood, on April 7, at 8 p.m.

Duncan Golfers Will Discuss Making Course

DUNCAN, March 29.—A meeting of golf enthusiasts has been called for Sunday morning at the Cowichan Leader office to consider ways and means of laying out a new golf course to serve the city and district.

Duncan has ben without a golf course since early in the late war, when the old club, which operated on land leased from the Indians, was disbanded.

The site being considered has frontage on the Island Highway, about half a mile south of Koksilah, and stretches from there to a point on the Koksilah River a short distance south of Cowichan Tennis Club grounds.

Two properties are involved with a total area of about eighty-five acres. The course would have wonderful scenic attractions, and with a club house situated beside the Island Highway, the location is considered ideal.
